INTRODUCTION

1. What We Are Trying to Do. This course in Portuguese is designed for those who need to make themselves understood on ordinary topics in Portuguese and cannot devote to it the years of study required by the average school course. It is based on the principle that you must hear a language if you are to understand it when it is spoken, and that you must practice speaking in order to be able to speak.

A teacher of Portuguese will not always be available for the men for whom this book is written. For that reason, the course has been made as nearly self-teaching as possible. This manual covers the course completely and requires the use of no other reference material. It explains in detail, step by step, how the work is to proceed, and sets the stage for the listening and talking which you are to do.

2. The Portuguese Language is spoken by about forty-five million people in Brazil, and by about eight million elsewhere, — in Portugal, the Azores, the Cape Verde Islands, and various Portuguese colonies.

Variations in language are perfectly natural and are found in every language in the world. When these variations are as small as they are in English, they are nothing to worry about. In Portuguese the variations are not greater than in English. You should not worry about them. All the people, even the lower classes, understand standard Portuguese and can make themselves understood in it. Therefore, do not be surprised if the pronunciation you hear does not quite match what is given to you in this manual or what you hear in this course. Imitate as far as possible the person with whom you are speaking. He, in turn, will do his best to pronounce so that he can be understood. Likewise, do not be surprised at the use of gestures, for they are part of the language; use the gestures yourself if you can imitate them.

3. How to Use This Manual. If you are going to speak Portuguese, you must have a native speaker of the language to work with you as you use this book. For those who cannot get a native speaker, a substitute has been provided with this course in the form of a set of phonograph records on which students can hear the voice of a native speaker. Do not try to use the book without either the living speaker or the phonograph records.

Digitized by Google

The book is arranged so that it can be used for individual or for group study. The group may or may not have a regular teacher; if you have no regular teacher, choose one of your own number (called the Group Leader) to lead the others and direct their activity.

4. A Native Speaker, as everyone knows, is the only good source of first-hand knowledge as to the pronunciation and usage of any language. In this course the native speaker of Portuguese is referred to as the Guide; if you can get a Guide as a source of information throughout the course, it is far preferable to do so rather than to rely on the phonograph records. The Guide's job is to act as a model for you to imitate, and as a check on your pronunciation; it is not his business to be a teacher or to "explain" the language to you. The Guide should be, if possible, a person who speaks standard Portuguese, not merely the dialect of his region; but he should speak Portuguese naturally, as the other people in his region do, and not affectedly or unnaturally. He need not be too well educated nor should he be too ignorant.

5. This Book is divided into five major sections, each containing six Units, one of which is devoted to review. Each unit contains several sections, which, with a few exceptions, are uniformly as follows:

A. Basic Sentences (with Hints on Pronunciation in Parts One and Two of the book)
B. Word Study and Review of Basic Sentences
C. Review of Basic Sentences (Cont.)
D. Listening In
E. Conversation
F. Conversation (Cont.)
Finder List

6. The Basic Sentences in each unit are arranged so as to give you a number of new words, first broken up into short phrases, and then used in complete sentences. On the printed page they are presented in parallel columns which contain on the left the English equivalents and on the right the Portuguese material. In Part One the Portuguese material is given in the special spelling which is called Aids to Listening; in Part Two the Portuguese is given in the form of Aids to Listening and also in the conventional Portuguese spelling; and from Part Three on, the Portuguese is given only in conventional spelling.

When you have the book open at whatever unit you are going to study, and when the Guide is ready to begin speaking the words for you or the Leader is ready to start the phonograph records, you can begin working on the Basic Sentences for that unit. If the Group Leader is working with the Guide, the Leader will read the English out loud, and the Guide will pronounce the Portuguese twice, each time allowing enough time for you to repeat the Portuguese after him. If you are using the phonograph records, you will hear two voices on the records, one acting as your Leader, the other as your Guide. While you are listening to the Guide, follow with your eyes the Aids to Listening. When you repeat the words and sentences after the Guide or phonograph records, repeat them aloud. Speak up in a good loud voice — never mumble. It is absolutely essential that you repeat after the Guide or phonograph record each time, and that you imitate him or it as closely as you can and learn by heart what you have imitated. Otherwise, you are only wasting your own time and everybody else's.

If you or the Leader have any difficulty in making the Guide understand what you want him to do, use the following signals:

1. Index finger raised, BEGIN

2. Hand raised, palm toward the Guide, STOP

3. Hand raised, palm down, hand moved slowly in semi-circle, SLOWER

4. Beckoning with index finger, REPEAT

5. Hand held palm up and moved quickly up and down, LOUDER

The meanings of these signals have been explained to the Guide in his Manual of Instructions and he will understand what you want.

7. The Aids to Listening, given in the first twelve units, present a simplified version of Portuguese spelling which is designed to help you in remembering the Portuguese words as they sound. In the Aids to Listening, each Portuguese sound is represented by one letter or combination of letters. Every letter or combination of letters always stands for the same sound. Especially at first, concentrate your attention on this, not on the ordinary Portuguese spelling.

8. The Hints on Pronunciation are given you to help you improve your speech in Portuguese. No language has sounds exactly like those of any other; and in Portuguese you will find some sounds which are quite absent from English, and others which are somewhat, but not exactly, like English sounds. After you have been through the Basic Sentences of the unit at least once, read through the Hints on Pronunciation carefully, having the Guide repeat or playing on the phonograph the words and sounds which are being discussed. Then go back and listen again to the Basic Sentences, always repeating them after the Guide or phonograph as you did before — and try to hear and imitate more precisely the sounds to which your attention has been called.

Work with each set of Basic Sentences until you and the other members of the group feel that you have fair mastery of them. "Mastery" means that you can understand the words and phrases when you hear them even though the material is presented in mixed order. It means also — something much more difficult — that you can give the Portuguese for the English expressions when you are called on to do so. This mastery cannot possibly be acquired in one "sitting." You will have to go back to the Basic Sentences again and again, as the manual directs, before you leave them. You will also have to try to recall and use the Portuguese of the Basic Sentences as frequently as possible between meetings of the group.

9. Pronouncing to be Understood. Pronunciation is important for this reason: if you expect to be understood when you speak a foreign language, you will have to pronounce it more or less the way people are used to hearing it. If you are too far off from the usual way of talking the language, people won't be able to understand you at all. The nearer you get to pronouncing the right sounds, the easier it will be for your ear to catch the sounds as spoken by the natives.

Learning to pronounce is really not a difficult matter if you go about it in the right way. If you follow the suggestions and instructions given in this manual, you can expect to develop the kind of pronunciation you need. Many students who are good mimics or who get into the spirit of speaking Portuguese will learn to talk like natives.

The only way to learn to pronounce like a native is to imitate. You must get a native to pronounce the words, then say them right after him, mimicking everything, even to the tone of his voice. This manual will make it easier for you by pointing out the sounds you need to observe.

10. Follow your Guide. When it comes to pronunciation, the native is your only authority. There may be instances where this manual or the phonograph records indicate one pronunciation and the native pronounces something a little different. In any language there are differences in pronunciation from one region to another. Always imitate the pronunciation of your Guide rather than that of the phonograph records or of the Aids to Listening.

11. The Word Study shows you new ways of combining the material which you have learned from the Basic Sentences; the Comment added to the Word Study discusses the essential features of the structure of the language. Read those and make sure that you understand thoroughly everything which is said in them; then go back again over the Basic Sentences with the Guide or phonograph, exactly as you did before, and observe the way the structural features you have studied actually work out in the Basic Sentences.

12. The Listening In section provides you with a series of conversations, anecdotes, stories, etc., which use the vocabulary and constructions you have learned in each unit and in those preceding. Its purpose is to give you practice in listening to and understanding the foreign language as you might overhear it in normal conversation among Portuguese-speaking people, and to furnish you with models for your own conversation practice.

Digitized by Google

13. The Conversation Practice represents the central aim of the course. In order to converse well, you should know well everything that has been introduced in the unit you are working on, and everything that you have learned in previous units as well. When you get up to take part in a conversation, do so as easily and naturally as you can. Don't try to bring in new words and phrases that you haven't learned in the material you have studied in this course; stick to what you have learned, and try to get that down just as pat as you can.

14. Talking Portuguese. In speaking Portuguese you should not first figure out what you want to say in English and then translate it into Portuguese word for word. In any given situation you should apply, instead, the words and expressions you already know.

When people speak to you, they will frequently use words and expressions you don't know. If you can't guess their meaning, you will have to ask what some of the words mean, or request that the speaker repeat in simpler terms. If you are good-natured and reasonable about it, you won't have any trouble.

Your learning of the language will not stop when you have mastered this material. You will, rather, be able to get around among the people and practice what you know, so that you really begin to make use of your first stock of words. At the same time you will find yourself constantly picking up new words. Try to learn new words thoroughly. Carry along a notebook to jot down words that you want to remember; you can then review them from time to time.

You should not wait until you have finished this manual before you start using the language. Begin practicing at once. When you have done the first unit, try out the expressions on as many people as possible. When you try out your Portuguese at this early stage, make it slide off your tongue as smoothly as you can without slipping back into English pronunciation. Listen closely to what the person says in response, trying to catch as much as you can. The first few times it may be hard to catch even the words you know, but you will improve rapidly if you keep on practicing every chance you get.

When you have finished this course, you will not only have made a start in speaking Portuguese; you will have learned a new way of studying languages. If your Portuguese gets rusty later on, or if you want to begin studying some other language, you will now know how to set about it: get some native speaker of the language to serve as your Guide, and, even if you have no such manual as this to work by, start asking him how to say the things you want to be able to say. Imitate, learn, and use all the spoken forms your Guide gives you; and in this way you can learn to speak any foreign language, whether you have studied it before or not.

GETTING AROUND

To the Group Leader: Each unit of this course is divided into six sections. It is suggested that the group spend not less than fifty minutes on each. The time to be spent on parts of sections is indicated. This time schedule is intended only to suggest relative amounts of time to be spent on different parts of the sections.

Before you get the group together to work on this first unit, read carefully the following material up to the heading Useful Words and Phrases on page 4. When the group meets, read the material aloud to them or have some other member of the group do the reading. The students will follow the reading with their books open. Be sure that your Guide or the phonograph and records are ready before the group meets for work on Section A. See that the Guide is supplied with a copy of the manual Instruções para o Guia, which tells him just what he is to do and gives him the Portuguese he is to speak to the group.

You should look through all of the sections of the unit, reading the directions carefully, so that you will have in mind the general plan of the work. Always get clearly in mind the directions for a section before you take that section up in the group meeting.

THIS UNIT gives you the most immediate and necessary expressions that you will need in meeting people, asking your way, buying things, and counting. You will find that it is no easy matter to master all these words and phrases, but you will succeed if you really concentrate and follow instructions carefully. The amount of learning and memorizing required for this first unit is considerably greater than that for any later unit. The reason that you are given such a large dose at the start is that this unit is a kind of "language first aid," which gives you enough useful expressions to enable you to make your ordinary wants known and to carry on a simple conversation in Portuguese from the very start.

All but a few of these words and phrases are selected from the phonograph records for the Portuguese Introductory Series. If you have worked with these records, the present unit will be a review for you and, in that case, you should be able to master the vocabulary of this unit without difficulty.

Digitized by Google

In the list of Useful Words and Phrases which follows, the English equivalents of these words and phrases are given at the left of the page. Opposite is a special spelling of the Portuguese (Aids to Listening) which will help you in getting the sounds. The Leader of the group will first read the English equivalent and pause for the Guide to speak the Portuguese. Every member of the group then repeats after the Guide, imitating his pronunciation as closely as possible. The Guide will then say the Portuguese a second time and everybody will repeat after him as before. The Leader will then read the next English equivalent and the Guide and group will follow the procedure indicated.

If no Guide is available, the phonograph records provided for the course should be used. When the group is ready, the Leader will begin playing the appropriate record and the group will repeat right after the Portuguese speaker during the silences in the record. The phonograph records can be used with profit even in cases in which a Guide is available. They can be heard between meetings of the group, whenever it is convenient for you; they furnish additional practice in hearing Portuguese; you may listen only to those portions which you have found difficult; and the records may be played as often as you wish. In case the speaker on the record has a Portuguese pronunciation different from that of your Guide, use the records only for listening and understanding and not for imitating.

Whether you are working with a Guide or only with the phonograph records, you must repeat each Portuguese word and phrase in a loud, clear voice, trying at all times to imitate the pronunciation as closely as you can. Keep constantly in mind the meaning of the Portuguese you are about to hear. When you are hearing the Portuguese, keep your eyes on the Aids to Listening. This will help you catch on to the pronunciation. But whenever the written form seems to you to differ from the spoken sound, follow the spoken sound always.

Learning to understand and pronounce a language is not really hard. Every one of us learned to do this as a child, and all over the world children learn to speak all kinds of languages without any trouble. The difficulty that an adult faces in learning a foreign language, as you are now learning Portuguese, is that the adult already has a set of habits for pronouncing his own language and this makes it harder for him to learn new ones than for a child who is starting from scratch. That is why it is so important that you should not be afraid of mimicking even when what you hear may sound strange to you. Don't be afraid to let yourself go. You will never learn to speak a language if you don't plunge right in as soon as you can. Never mind if you do make mistakes at first. You will in any case. But the important thing is for you to try to say the words and phrases. Imitate your Guide with the same spirit and enthusiasm that you use in mimicking a person whose speech sounds peculiar to you. You will find that if you do this, your Guide will not think you are making fun of him; instead he will probably smile because what you have said sounds to him like Portuguese.

In the first five units do not attempt under any circumstances to pronounce the Portuguese before you have heard it. You will only make trouble for yourself if you try to guess the pronunciation by "reading" the Aids to Listening. Always wait until the Guide or phonograph record is ready before you begin your first work with the words and phrases.

If you are working with a Guide who doesn't understand English, use the hand signals described in the Introduction to let him know when you want him to begin, to stop, to read more slowly, or to repeat.

The procedure to be followed is to listen to and then repeat the words and phrases with your book open. Listen and imitate carefully and always try to keep in mind the meaning of the Portuguese you are hearing and pronouncing. Remember that each phrase you say has a real meaning in Portuguese and hence you should always act as though you were really saying something to someone else. You will learn fastest if, when your book is open, you follow these steps:

1. Keep your eyes on the Aids to Listening as you listen carefully to the Portuguese being spoken.
2. Repeat immediately what you have heard, imitating as closely as you can and saying it loudly and clearly.
3. Keep in mind the meaning of what you are saying, remembering that it conveys a real meaning, and look at the English Equivalents whenever you need to remind yourself of the meaning.

Begin the words and phrases as soon as your Guide is ready or when the Leader of your group is ready to play the first phonograph record.

To the Group Leader: Give the members of the group a chance to ask questions about the instructions. Make sure that everyone understands just what he is to do. Then have the students go through the list of Useful Words and Phrases once with books open, repeating in unison after the Guide. Following this first practice, read with the group the Comment on Aids to Listening on page 7. Make sure that everyone understands it.

Now go through the list a second time, just as you did before. And finally, go through it a third time, but let the students take turns repeating individually after the Guide — a sentence to a student. Indicate the order in which the repetitions are to go, who is first, who next, and so on. Never let a student say a phrase unless the Guide has said it immediately before him. Continue this individual repetition as long as the 50-minute period permits. Then, just before dismissing the group, read with them the paragraph headed Check Yourself on page 7.

Here are some hints that will help make the work of the group more effective:

1. Insist that everyone speak up. Don't allow any mumbling! Each member of the group must be able to hear what is being said at all times.
2. Indicate to the Guide that he is to repeat whenever he hears a bad pronunciation, and is to keep on repeating until he hears a pronunciation that sounds like Portuguese.
3. Urge everyone to mimic to the limit every sound, every inflection, even the mannerisms of the Guide.
4. Keep the work moving. Don't let it drag at any time. See that everyone is listening, not only to the Guide, but to himself and to the others as they repeat after the Guide.
5. Go through all the work yourself. Repeat with the others and take your turn at the individual repetitions. Remember that you are a student, too. Speak right up with the rest.

After you have gone through the Useful Words and Phrases once, read the following:

2. Comment on the Aids to Listening (10 minutes)

In the Aids to Listening, the syllables which you are to speak with more emphasis are written in CAPITAL LETTERS. A hyphen (-) shows the separation of words into syllables. The curved line (‿) connecting words shows the groups of words or phrases which are spoken without any pause between them. When spoken at an ordinary rate of speed, such a group of words will sound to you as though it were a single word. A wavy line (~) means that the vowel over which it is placed is pronounced through the nose.

Now go through the Useful Words and Phrases again with your book open, following the same procedure as before. Repeat each word and phrase in a loud voice immediately after hearing it. Let yourself go and say the phrases right out.

Go through the Useful Words and Phrases once more with your book open, but this time take turns letting each member of your group repeat individually until everybody has taken part. Remember that this is your first solo performance, so keep on the alert. If the Guide asks you to repeat, do so with enthusiasm and try to mimic him as best you can until he is satisfied with your pronunciation. When you have satisfied him, you can be sure that you are speaking understandable Portuguese. Continue this individual repetition as long as time permits. If you are using only the phonograph records, your Leader will see to it that you repeat and that everyone gets the most out of this individual performance.

3. Check Yourself (5 minutes)

Did you go through the Useful Words and Phrases at least twice in unison and at least once more individually?

Did you repeat each word and phrase in a loud, clear voice immediately after hearing it?

Digitized by Google

Did you follow the pronunciation you heard, even when it was different from that shown in your book?

Did you keep in mind the meaning of each word and phrase as you heard and spoke the Portuguese?

If you have failed at any point to carry out the instructions, go over the Useful Words and Phrases once again as soon as you can, being careful to follow every step in the procedure outlined.

Here are other useful words and phrases which you will want to use immediately if you are in a country in which the people speak Portuguese. These are being given to you as a "language first aid." Learn them by heart.

In working with this material, follow the same procedure that you used with the Useful Words and Phrases in Section A. After you have gone through the list once, repeating in unison, read the Hints on Pronunciation which follow. Then go through the list a second and a third time, as in Section A.

2. Hints on Pronunciation (15 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Read over with the group the following Hints on Pronunciation. Let different members of the group illustrate the proper vowel sounds by reading the Portuguese examples of vowels and vowel groups. Take time to discuss these hints and make sure that everyone understands them.

THE PRONUNCIATION of Portuguese does not involve any great difficulties. This, of course, does not mean that you can use English sounds in Portuguese words and expect to be understood. But you will find that many of the sounds are sufficiently similar to your own so that you will have practically no difficulty with them. However, there are a few Portuguese sounds that are different from anything in English. For that reason it is necessary for you to listen carefully and try hard to imitate your Guide. If you do this and follow the Hints on Pronunciation which will be given to you from time to time, you will be able to pronounce Portuguese so that you can be readily understood.

The written form of the words serves as an aid to your listening and helps you recall the pronunciation as you have heard it from your Guide. We have therefore tried to make the writing in Part One of this manual correspond as nearly as possible to the sound of the language. In Part Two you will learn to read the ordinary Portuguese writing.

We are used to English writing where each vowel letter can stand for several different sounds. We have represented the vowel sounds of Portuguese in the table which follows on page 12, always using each letter in the same value.

Digitized by Google

Letter	Stands for a Sound	Examples	English Equivalents
a	like that of ah or a in art.	ba-TA-ta	potato
e	somewhat like that of e in they. (As you listen to your Guide, notice that this sound is not the ey in they; it is more nearly the e alone.)	es-TA	it is é	like that of e in let.	ka-FÉ	coffee
i	like that of i in machine.[1]	a-KI	here
o	somewhat like that of o in low. (As you listen to your Guide, notice that this sound is not the ow in low; it is more nearly the o alone.)	ko-MER	to eat
ó	like that of o in cloth.	Ó-ra	hour
u	like that of u in Peru.[1]	DU-as	two Warning: Don't pronounce u like the English u in use. The sound is not like you, but like oo.

While a group of vowel letters in English spelling generally has a value quite different from the sound of the letters taken separately, a group of vowel letters in Portuguese has the value of the individual vowel sounds spoken one after the other quickly. For example, to pronounce ei in LEI-ti you pronounce ey as in they, running the two Portuguese sounds e and i together. Similarly, ai and VAI is a running together of Portuguese a and i, giving a sound similar to that of English i in bite: au in rres-tau-RÃ-ti sounds like English now, etc.

Note that if a Portuguese word ends with a vowel sound and the next word begins with a vowel sound, the two vowel sounds run together. Similarly, if a word ends with a consonant sound and the next word begins with a vowel sound, the consonant is pronounced as though it were part of the following word:

u‿o-TÉ-l‿es-TA‿A‿es-KER-da. The hotel is to the left.
AS‿TRE-z‿Ó-ras. At three o'clock.

Most of the consonant letters in both the simplified spelling and in Portuguese writing are pronounced pretty much as they are in English. But there are certain combinations of letters which represent sounds different from the English:

Letter	Stands for a Sound	Examples	English Equivalents
nh	about like that of ny in canyon, but run together into a single sound	si-NHÓ-ra	lady
lh	about like that of lli in million, but run together into a single sound	FI-lhu	son
rr	like that of a heavy rolled r sound	si-GA-rru rres-tau-RÃ-ti	cigarette restaurant

[1] Often words which we have represented in our transcription with i and u such as u‿si-NHOR, "the gentleman," "you," are pronounced with e or o (o se-NHOR) in overly careful speech, merely because ordinary Portuguese writing uses the letters e and o in such words.

Before you leave this section, be sure that you know how to pronounce the basic vowels in Portuguese. If you are in doubt about any of them, ask for help.

3. Check Yourself (5 minutes)

Did you go through the Useful Words and Phrases at least twice in unison and at least once more individually?

Did you apply what you learned about the vowel and consonant sounds in Hints on Pronunciation?

Did you follow the pronunciation you heard, even when it was different from that shown in your book?

Did you keep in mind the meaning of each word and phrase as you heard and spoke the Portuguese?

If you have failed at any point to carry out the instructions, go over the Useful Words and Phrases once again as soon as you can, being careful to follow every step in the procedure outlined.

Section C — Review of Useful Words and Phrases

If your group has time for outside assignments, sections marked Individual Study may be done between meetings of the group. Otherwise use them as independent study during a group meeting.

1. Covering the English (25 minutes)

Individual Study: Go back to the Useful Words and Phrases in Sections A and B. Cover up the English. Read the Portuguese aloud. Keep your voice down if you are working with the rest of the group. Follow your Guide's pronunciation as nearly as you can remember, and test yourself to see if you can recall the meaning of each word and phrase. Check the expressions you are not sure about, and after you have gone through the whole list, uncover the English and find their meaning. Repeat this procedure at least three times or until you are satisfied that you know every expression.

2. Review of Useful Words and Phrases (25 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Read again for your information the numbered suggestions just preceding Useful Words and Phrases on page 4. Your Guide has been directed in his manual to pay particular attention to the correct pronunciation of vowels. He may ask members of the group to repeat words or phrases a good many times in an effort to get a pronunciation that is more nearly correct. See that they listen closely, that they repeat promptly and loud enough so that everyone can hear them, and that they imitate the Guide to the last detail.

Go through the Useful Words and Phrases in Sections A and B twice. The first time have the members of the group repeat individually after the Guide with books open. The second time, have them close their books. The Guide will give each Portuguese expression twice as before. Let the students take turns giving the English equivalents the first time they hear the Guide speak the Portuguese and repeating the Portuguese as usual the second time. This will help them to check on the meaning of all Portuguese expressions in Useful Words and Phrases.

Go BACK to the Useful Words and Phrases in Sections A and B. The first time you go through the list, take turns repeating the Portuguese after the Guide. Keep your book open, and get all the help you can from the Aids to Listening. Pay particular attention to what you have learned about the pronunciation of the vowels. Make every effort to satisfy your Guide with your pronunciation.

The second time you go through the list, check up on the meaning of the Portuguese. Keep your books closed and take turns giving the English equivalents the first time you hear the Portuguese expression and repeating the Portuguese as usual the second time. If you have any trouble with the English, you should find time for more individual study of the Useful Words and Phrases, covering the English and checking up on the meaning when you read the Portuguese aloud.

SECTION D — LISTENING IN

To the Group Leader: The conversations which appear in this section will be read to the group by the Guide or played on the phonograph records. English equivalents are omitted from the Listening In material so that students can get practice in understanding spoken Portuguese which uses the vocabulary they know. Meaning, therefore, is to be emphasized.

The first time you go through the conversations have the Guide repeat a conversation, if necessary to help clear up the meaning, before you go on to the next conversation. If you have no Guide, lift the needle of the phonograph at the end of each conversation and let the students discuss the meaning of any sentences that are not understood.

Go through the conversations a second time without stopping. Pay about equal attention to pronunciation and meaning.

Digitized by Google

Finally, assign parts and have the students read the conversations. Give everyone a chance. Suggest that the actors actually take the parts, stand up and move around, sit at a table in the restaurant, stand behind the counter in the store, etc. Keep it moving. Get everyone to speak up! Take a part yourself.

KEEP YOUR BOOK closed while the Guide reads the following conversation and repeat after him. If you have no Guide, you should use the phonograph records, repeating the Portuguese immediately after you hear it. At the end of each conversation take time out to check up on the meaning of what you have heard and said. Ask someone in the group to give you the English equivalent of any expression that you do not understand. If necessary, go back to the Useful Words and Phrases to find the meaning. Almost all the words and the expressions you have had in Useful Words and Phrases occur in the following conversations.

2. Check Yourself (5 minutes)

Is there any expression in any of these conversations that you do not understand now? If there is, find the meaning of it or ask other members of your group before you proceed. If no one knows, refer to the Useful Words and Phrases.

Go through the conversations once more, following the same plan as before. Imitate carefully and be sure to keep in mind the English equivalent of everything you are saying in Portuguese.

Finally, go through the conversations again but this time take turns. The Leader will assign parts and the exercise is to continue at least until everyone has had a chance to speak one of the parts. Keep this going as long as you have time. Remember that this is another solo performance and that you are to get the most out of it. When your turn comes, speak clearly and with enthusiasm. Put yourself in the situation and let yourself go. If the Guide asks you to repeat, do so until he is satisfied with your pronunciation.

Section E — Conversation

1. Covering the Portuguese (15 minutes)

Individual Study: Go back to the Useful Words and Phrases in Sections A and B. Cover up the Portuguese. Read the English silently and test yourself to see if you can speak the Portuguese for each word and phrase. Check the expressions you are uncertain about, and after you have gone through the whole list, uncover the Portuguese and review them. Go through the list once more and continue for at least three times or until you can give the Portuguese readily for all the expressions. To make sure of this, pick out expressions at random and see if you can speak the Portuguese quickly. Speak the Portuguese aloud and try to imitate your Guide's pronunciation as well as you can remember it.

2. Vocabulary Check-up (15 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Go to the Useful Words and Phrases in Sections A and B. Read to the group the English equivalents of the Portuguese expressions. Call on different students (not in any fixed order) asking for the correct Portuguese for the English.

Digitized by Google

For instance, say to A: "KO-mu se DIS ẽ por-tu-GES Where is there a restaurant?" The students are to respond with their books closed. The Guide will indicate by a negative sign whenever he hears a Portuguese expression that is wrong; or, if there is no Guide, the other members of the group will indicate by signs that they do not agree. Immediately ask someone else to give the expression correctly. Any group member who has difficulty in giving the correct Portuguese should be told to review the Useful Words and Phrases thoroughly before the next meeting of the group. Do not spend any time talking about the Why of the Portuguese; stick to the How.

There are two precautions which the Leader must observe in all exercises of this sort and in the conversation practice throughout the course. Be sure that everyone understands them. They are as follows:

1. Every Portuguese expression must be given smoothly and completely before the student's performance can be considered satisfactory. If there is an error in the first attempt, ask the student to give the expression over again in complete form. If he fumbles too badly, turn to someone else.
2. Everyone must speak loud enough so that all can hear. Every student should be encouraged to call out "Louder, please!" if he can't hear. Check on this occasionally by pointing to a student who is listening to someone else's Portuguese, and asking, "What did he say?"

If you do not observe these precautions, much time and effort may be wasted in group meetings.

IN THIS SECTION you are going to have your first chance to engage in conversation in Portuguese. This, of course, is the most useful part of the entire unit, and the part you should do with the greatest amount of pep and realism. Do it half-heartedly and you lose most of the value of the unit. Do it earnestly and enthusiastically and you will find that you can really say a great number of things in Portuguese fluently and correctly. Read the instructions carefully, get everything you are to do straight in your mind, and then plunge in.

In order to fix in your mind the expressions you will need in the conversation, check yourself on your ability to speak the Portuguese you have learned. By now you should not have to grope for it. The Leader of the group will ask you to supply in turn the Portuguese expressions for the English equivalents which he reads from the Useful Words and Phrases. If you have done a thorough job of recalling the Portuguese when you are looking only at the English equivalents, as suggested in Section E, you will have no difficulty in responding promptly and smoothly when you hear the English. Your Guide will let you know if your Portuguese expressions are not correct. If you have no Guide, the members of the group should be ready to correct faulty expressions.

3. Conversation (20 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Read the following directions with the group. Encourage the students to strike out for themselves. Spend all the time you can on free conversation practice in an effort to get to the point where students can speak easily and smoothly with a minimum of um's and er's.

THE LEADER will assign parts and will ask you to take turns in pairs, carrying on the following conversations. The two persons who are talking together should stand up and act out their parts, speaking as smoothly and naturally as possible. Make it real and get some fun out of it. The Guide will help you if your Portuguese is wrong or if your pronunciation is bad. The Leader will prompt you if you are not sure what comes next in your part.

Getting Directions

A approaches a stranger, B, and asks him for information.

(1) A apologizes for speaking to B and asks him where there is (a) a restaurant, (b) a railroad station, or (c) a hotel.
(2) B gives A directions (a) to the right, (b) to the left, or (c) straight ahead.
(3) A apologizes again, explains that he does not understand, and asks B if he will please speak slowly.
(4) B repeats slowly and clearly and asks A if he understands.
(5) A says that he does understand and thanks B.
(6) B says that A is welcome.
(7) A again thanks B and says good-bye.
(8) B says good-bye.

At a Restaurant

C sits down at a table in a restaurant and is waited on by D.

(1) D says (a) good morning or (b) good afternoon to C and asks how C is.
(2) C says he is well, thanks, and asks after D's health.
(3) D is also well and asks what C would like.
(4) C orders a meal — meat, potatoes, bread, beer, water, milk, coffee — whatever he would like.
(5) After eating, C asks how much it is.
(6) D tells C that it is ten kru-ZEI-rus.

Digitized by Google

(7) C pays, saying, "Here it is."
(8) D thanks C.
(9) C says good-bye to D.
(10) D says good-bye to C.

If it is so desired, particularly when the group is too large to give everybody a chance to participate in the conversation, the exercise may be continued for longer than the time indicated above. It is also a good practice to give people who are having difficulties a second trial.

To the Group Leader: You can tell from the work that you did on conversation in Section E, whether or not the group needs to spend more time in preparing for successful conversation. If necessary, spend the first part of this section in individual study, having members of the group say the Portuguese of the Useful Words and Phrases when they have the English expressions covered. Check up on their vocabulary as in Section E. Then continue the work with conversation which you started in Section E.

In this section you are to continue taking part in conversation. If the work didn't go well in Section E, take time to go through the Useful Words and Phrases again with the English covered and to give the Portuguese of the English expressions as your Leader asks for it.

Put everything you can into the conversations. Act your part; don't hesitate to talk for fear of making a mistake. You'll make plenty of mistakes at first, but the important thing is to practice talking. You can't correct an error until you have made it.

Try out your Portuguese whenever you get a chance. Don't wait for meetings of the group to practice what you have learned. Pair off between meetings and see what you can do with Portuguese greetings and conversation. When you are alone, run over the list of Portuguese expressions you know. Review them in your mind. Try saying them. See how much you can improve your pronunciation and control of the language in whatever time you can find between meetings of the group. Make this a regular practice throughout the course.

MEETING PEOPLE

Section A — Basic Sentences

To the Group Leader: Adopt the following procedure as standard practice in conducting this course:

1. Before each meeting of the group, be sure to read carefully and get clearly in mind the instructions covering those sections of a unit which you expect to take up in the group meeting.
2. Before each group meeting, see that the Guide is available with the Instruções para o Guia or that the phonograph and records are ready.
3. Have the members of the group read together the instructions that precede each piece of work they are to do before they try to do the work. Let one member of the group read these instructions aloud while the others follow the reading in their books.
4. Take time, following the reading of all instructions, to make sure that everyone understands exactly what he is to do.

In Section A of Unit 2 follow the same procedure as that outlined for Useful Words and Phrases of Section A in Unit 1. Go through the Basic Sentences once with everyone repeating in unison after the Guide or phonograph record. Then take up the Hints on Pronunciation which follow. Come back to the Basic Sentences and go through them once more, with repetitions in unison after the Guide. Pay particular attention to those items of pronunciation you have been working on. Finally, go through the Basic Sentences a third time with solo repetition. The Guide will call for as many repetitions as may be necessary to get a pronunciation that sounds to him like Portuguese.

Make everyone speak up. Keep the work moving right along.

Begin this section by listening, in the manner already outlined in Section A of the preceding unit, to the Basic Sentences which follow. Be sure to keep in mind the meaning of the Portuguese by reading silently the English equivalents. As you listen to the Portuguese, keep your eye on the Aids to Listening. This will help you imitate accurately the pronunciation you are hearing. Repeat each word and phrase loudly and clearly right after you hear it. As you pronounce the Portuguese, do so as though you really meant what you are saying. Do not forget that these words and phrases convey a real meaning and it is up to you to say them as though you were actually using them. Go through the sentences in unison and with your book open.

The Basic Sentences are set up as conversations so that you may hear and speak the Portuguese as you would hear and speak it if you were talking with Brazilian people. Although numerous characters are introduced in these Basic Sentences, it is not important for you to try to keep in mind just who they are or their relationship to one another. You are concerned rather with what they say and how they say it.

2. Hints on Pronunciation (15 minutes)

To the Group Leader: The explanations preceding each Practice should be read by the group and discussed before the Practice is attempted. The practice for Hints on Pronunciation is in the Guide's Manual and on the phonograph records. Follow the same procedure in working with the practice material that you have followed with the Basic Sentences. Go through as many times as may be necessary to give each member of the group reasonable control of the item of pronunciation that is being taught. Have the group repeat after the Guide, first in unison, then individually.

You will find that the practice material is presented in sections on the phonograph record with a narrow space of clear record between each section. This arrangement will make it possible for you to play each section of practice as it is needed.

Vowels Through the Nose. In Unit 1, under Comment on the Aids to Listening we pointed out that the wavy line (~) over a vowel means that it should be pronounced through the nose. To make the sound which we spell ã in the Aids to Listening, you pronounce the sound of uh and at the same time you let your breath pass into your nose as well as out through your mouth. Be sure to make this ã a pure vowel sound, without any n or other consonant at the end. Practice saying these words along with the Guide or records.

(Phonograph Record II, 3)

PRACTICE 1

u‿rres-tau-RÃ-ti	the restaurant
a-LI‿a-DIÃ-ti	ahead there a‿kri-Ã-sa	the child
KUÃ-tu‿É?	How much is it?

Digitized by Google

To make the sound we spell õ, pronounce o as in low and at the same time send your breath into your nose. Practice the õ sound:

PRACTICE 2

BÕZ‿DI-as.	Good morning.
Õ-di‿es-TA?	Where is it?

In the same way, try the following words containing ĩ by pronouncing i as in machine through your nose:

PRACTICE 3

AS‿SĨ-ku‿Ó-ras	at five o'clock
SĨ‿si-NHOR.	Yes, sir.

Now pronounce the sound we spell ẽ, like the e in they, through your nose. Try the following words after the Guide. Notice that when ẽ comes at the end of a group of words or of a sentence, it takes on a little ng sound, as in English words ending in –ing.

PRACTICE 4

a-pre-ZẼ-tu	I present
kõ-pre-Ẽ-di? kõ-pre-Ẽ-du.	Do you understand? I understand.
u‿si-NHOR‿tã-BẼ‿tẽ‿FI-lhus.	You also have children.

Finally, pronounce Portuguese ũ through your nose:

PRACTICE 5

Ũ‿i‿Ũ, DOIS	One and one, two.
MŨI-tu! MŨI-tu!	Very much!

In the following sentences you will find many "through-the-nose" vowels. Practice them over and over, trying to pronounce them as the Guide or records do, until you get them right.

PRACTICE 6

BÕZ‿DI-as! KO-mu‿VAI?	Good morning! How are you?
MŨI-tu‿BẼ, o-bri-GA-du.	Very well, thank you.
Õ-di‿es-TA‿u‿rres-tau-RÃ-ti?	Where is the restaurant?
A‿Ũ a-LI‿a-DIÃ-ti.	There is one ahead there.
MŨI-tu‿pra-ZER.	Very glad (to know you).
u‿si-NHOR‿tẽ‿ũ‿FI-lhu, rro-BÉR-tu?	You have a son, Robert?
NÃU, E-li‿si‿SHA-ma‿zhuãu-ZI-nhu.	No, his name is Johnny.
SÃU‿SĨ-ku‿Õ-ras?	Is it five o'clock?
SÃU, sĩ‿si-NHOR.	It is, yes, sir.

If you are uncertain about any of the points of pronunciation which have been discussed, ask your Guide to repeat the words and phrases with which you are having trouble, and try to correct your pronunciation. Remember that the discussion and written examples are at best an imperfect representation of the sounds. They are only intended as an aid to you.

When you are satisfied that you can pronounce correctly all the sounds, go through the Basic Sentences once more, repeating in unison after the Guide. As you repeat after your Guide, keep your eyes on the Aids to Listening and note in particular the examples of the sounds discussed. Do not hesitate to ask your Guide to repeat if you are uncertain about any sound.

Finally, go through the Basic Sentences, again taking turns. Listen carefully to your Guide and make sure that your pronunciation satisfies him.

3. Check Yourself (5 minutes)

How did you get along with the pronunciation of the nasal vowel sounds? Practice them whenever you get a chance until they come easily and naturally.

Did you follow the pronunciation you heard, even if it seemed different from that shown in your book?

Are you keeping in mind the meaning of each word and phrase as you hear and speak the Portuguese?

Are you speaking in a voice that is loud and clear enough so that the Guide and other members of the group can hear you?

Section B — Word Study and Review of Basic Sentences

1. Word Study (20 minutes)

If your group has time for outside assignments, do the Word Study between meetings of the group. Otherwise make it independent study in the group meeting.

In this section we take up some of the words and expressions you have just learned and examine them to see how the language is built. First read the words and expressions in each list and make sure that you understand the meaning of the Portuguese. Then read the comment which follows each list. This should make clear to you just how the words function and how they are put together. If there are any points that are not clear to you, make note of them and ask other members of the group about them. Follow the same procedure with each list and each comment.

COMMENT 1

Observe the Portuguese words for "the" in the following illustrations:

u‿si-NHOR	the gentleman	a‿si-NHÓ-ra	the lady
u‿a-MI-gu	the friend (man or boy)	a‿a-MI-ga	the friend (woman or girl)
u‿MO-su	the young man	a‿MO-sa	the young lady
u‿NOI-vu	the fiancé (engaged man)	a‿MÃI	the mother

As you can see, the little word u is used with words referring to human beings of the male sex, and a with words referring to human beings of the female sex. Both u and a correspond to the English word "the," which is called a definite article; but you needn't worry about the name now.

In general, words referring to male persons or animals are called masculine and take the word u; words referring to female persons or animals are called feminine and take the word a.

Now observe the following:

u‿o-TÉL	the hotel	a‿es-ta-SÃU	the station
u‿si-NE-ma	the movies	a‿ba-TA-ta	the potato
u‿rres-tau-RÃ-ti	the restaurant

Digitized by Google

All Portuguese nouns, even though they refer to things that have no sex, are divided into masculine or feminine; that is, words that take u and words that take a. Observe the word for "the" in the following:

us‿si-NHO-ris	the gentlemen
us‿FI-lhus	the sons, children
as‿si-NHÓ-ras	the ladies
as‿FI-lhas	the daughters

All the words studied in the first groups referred to only one object; that is, they are in the singular. If we wish to refer to more than one object, we use the plural by adding s, as we do in English, with the difference that the words for "the," that is, u and a, must also be in the plural to match the nouns, as in the examples given above.

However, when s at the end of a word comes before a word beginning with a vowel or certain consonants (such as m, b, d, r in the examples below) it is pronounced more like a z and is so indicated in the transcription. You can notice it in the following:

az‿ba-TA-tas	the potatoes
az‿MÃIS	the mothers
uz‿BÕ-z‿a-MI-gus	the good friends
SÃU‿DU-a-Z‿Ó-ras.	It is two o'clock.
a-z‿a-MI-ga-z‿es-TÃU‿a-KI.	The (women) friends are here.

COMMENT 2

The Words ũ and u-ma. Observe the Portuguese words for "a," "an," and "one":

ũ‿si-NHOR	a gentleman	one gentleman	u-ma‿si-NHÓ-ra	a lady	one lady
ũ‿o-TÉL	a hotel	one hotel	u-ma‿es-ta-SÃU	a station	one station

As you see, the word for "a" or "an" is ũ before a masculine noun, and u-ma before a feminine noun. In addition, these words are equivalent also to the English number "one." This means that there are two words in Portuguese for the number "one": ũ to go before a masculine noun, u-ma to go before a feminine noun.

Digitized by Google

a-KI‿A‿U-ma‿si-NHÓ-ra.	There is one lady here.
A‿ũ‿si-NHOR‿SIL-va a-KI.	There is a Mr. Silva here. (I don't know who he is or what he wants.)

How can you tell whether ũ and u-ma mean "a" or "one"? Often it all comes to the same thing, whether we say "a lady" or "one lady." If it is definitely the number one that we mean, however, we show it by stressing the word ũ or u-ma.

Note: Normally, nouns ending in the sound u are masculine and have u (the) before them; nouns ending in the sound a are feminine and have a (the) before them. You have already learned one exception to this rule, u‿si-NE-ma, "the movies," but in the main it holds good. In the case of nouns that don't end in u or a, you will have to make a point of memorizing the word for "the," whether it is u or a, together with the noun.

COMMENT 3

The Verbs SER and TER. Observe the forms of the verb SER, meaning "to be," in the following illustrations:

EU‿SO‿zhu-ZÉ‿SIL-va.	I am José Silva.
u‿si-NHO-r‿é‿ka-ZA-du?	Are you married?
É‿meu‿BÕ‿a-MI-gu.	He is my good friend.
SO-mus BÕ-z‿a-MI-gus.	We are good friends.
ES-tis‿SÃU‿seus‿FI-lhus?	Are these your children?

Now observe the forms of TER meaning "to have":

TE-nhu‿DOIS‿FI-lhus.	I have two children.
u‿si-NHOR‿TÊ‿FÓS-fo-rus.	You have matches.
TÊ‿DOIS‿FI-lhus.	He has two children.
ma-RI-a‿TÊ‿ũ‿BÕ‿NOI-vu.	Mary has a good fiancé.
us‿si-NHO-ris‿TÊ‿FI-lhus?	Have you children?
TE-mus‿TRES‿FI-lhus.	We have three children.

Digitized by Google

Note that the verb form for "you," "he," and "she" is always the same in Portuguese, as is also the verb form for "you" (pl.) and "they." In the case of the verb TER, "to have," only "I" and "we" have different forms, as those for "you," "he," "she," and "they" all sound the same. Some Brazilians give a little extra stress to the plural forms, but most people pronounce alike all of those we have represented as TÊ.

2. Covering English and Portuguese of Word Study (10 minutes)

Read aloud several times all the examples given you in the Word Study. Then cover the English and see if you know the meaning of every item. Repeat the operation until you are sure that you know every expression. As a final test, cover the Portuguese and see if you can speak out the Portuguese expressions by simply looking at the English. Test yourself thoroughly. Satisfy yourself that you know everything before passing on to the next section.

3. Review of Basic Sentences (20 minutes)

Review the first half of the Basic Sentences with your Guide or the phonograph record. Go through them as many times as you can, taking turns repeating the Portuguese individually. Try it with books closed and see how you get along without the help of the Aids to Listening. But always keep in mind the meaning of the Portuguese you are hearing and speaking. As you go through the Basic Sentences be on the lookout for examples of the points in Word Study you have just covered.

1. Review of Basic Sentences (Cont.) (25 minutes)

Review the second half of the Basic Sentences with your Guide or the phonograph record. For the detailed procedure to be followed read again the instructions given above for the review of the first half of Basic Sentences.

2. Covering the English of Basic Sentences (15 minutes)

Individual Study: Here is your chance to find out just how well you have learned the meaning of the Portuguese expressions you have had up to this point. Go back to the Basic Sentences in Section A and cover the English.

Digitized by Google

Read the Portuguese aloud and see whether you can supply the English equivalents of the words and phrases. Mark those you are not sure about, and after reading the list through, uncover the English and look up their meaning. Cover the English again and repeat the procedure until you can go through the entire list, giving all the meanings without difficulty.

When you are satisfied that you can go through the Basic Sentences, giving the meaning for any expression you say in Portuguese, try the following exercise:

3. What Would You Say? (10 minutes)

For each of the following situations two or more Portuguese expressions are given. Read all the expressions aloud and check the one you think best fits each situation. Be sure you know why the other choices are not suitable. At the next meeting of the group you will be asked to say what you have chosen and you will have a chance to test your answers. Do not write anything down.

1. You wish to present your friend Smith to Mr. Silva. You say:
   - a) KÃ‿é u‿si-nhor‿SMIT?
   - b) a-pre-ZÃ-tu‿meu‿a-MI-gu PE-dru‿SMIT.

Section D — Listening In

1. What Did You Say? (10 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Read the English describing the situations in What Would You Say? of Section C, Unit 2, and call on different students, not in any fixed order, to speak the Portuguese which the situation calls for. Encourage the students to give the Portuguese, if they can, without reading it from the simplified spelling in their books. Then ask different members of the group to give the meaning in English of the different Portuguese expressions listed for each situation.

Go back to the last exercise in the preceding section. The Leader will ask different members of the group to speak the Portuguese to be used in each of the situations that are given. Other members of the group will criticize the choices made if they do not agree with them. The Leader will also ask for the English equivalents of all the other expressions offered as choices, taking turns around the group.

2. Word Study Check-up (10 minutes)

To the Group Leader: As a further check on the students' understanding of the Word Study, read the English equivalents of the Portuguese expressions given before each comment in Word Study. Call on different students, not in any fixed order, to give the correct Portuguese for the English. For instance, say to A: "Ko-mu‿si‿DIS ẽ‿por-tu-GES the gentleman, the gentlemen, the young lady, the young ladies?" and so on. The Guide will at this point indicate by a negative sign whenever he hears a Portuguese expression that is wrong. If there is no Guide, the other members of the group will signal that they do not agree. Immediately ask someone else to give the right answer. Any member of the group who has difficulty in giving the correct Portuguese should be told to review the Word Study thoroughly before the next meeting of the group. Do not take time in this exercise to talk about the Why; stick to the How.

THE LEADER will ask different members of the group to give the correct Portuguese for the English equivalents of the expressions you studied in the Word Study. If you give the wrong answer, the Guide will let you know by making a negative sign; or, if there is no Guide, the other members of the group will indicate that they think your answer is wrong. The Leader will then immediately call on someone else for the right answer. If you have any difficulty in giving the correct Portuguese, review the Word Study thoroughly.

3. Listening In (30 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Re-read the note To the Group Leader in Section D of Unit 1. Follow the same procedure as outlined there. The first time you go through the conversations, check up on the meaning at the end of each conversation. Then go through all of them a second time without stopping. Finally, assign parts and have the students read the conversations. Get them to do a little acting if you can. Encourage them to speak up and to get into the spirit of the situation.

KEEP YOUR BOOK closed while the Guide reads the following conversation, and repeat after him in unison. If you have no Guide, you should use the phonograph records, repeating the Portuguese immediately after you hear it. At the end of each conversation take time out to check up on the meaning of any word or phrase about which you are in doubt. Ask some other member of the group to give you the English equivalent, or in case no one knows, go back to the Basic Sentences of this unit and make sure that you understand everything before you proceed any further. Go through the conversations a second time, repeating after the Guide individually. Then take parts in the conversations. This exercise contains all the new words you have learned in this unit.

Is there any word or phrase in this conversation that you do not understand now? If there is, be sure to find out its meaning by asking members of your group or looking it up in the Basic Sentences.

Go through the conversation again, following the same plan as before. Imitate carefully and keep in mind the meaning of everything you are saying in Portuguese.

Finally, go through the conversation a third time. Take turns speaking the parts and continue until everybody has had a chance to speak at least one of the parts. Keep this exercise going as long as you have time. Get the most out of this solo performance, and when your turn comes, speak clearly and with feeling. The Guide will correct any errors he hears by asking you to repeat. Make every effort to satisfy him with your pronunciation.

Section E — Conversation

1. Covering the Portuguese of Basic Sentences (15 minutes)

Individual Study: Go back to the Basic Sentences of this unit. Cover up the Portuguese. Read the English silently and test yourself to see how many words and phrases you can say in Portuguese. Check the words you are uncertain about, and after you have gone through the whole list, uncover the Portuguese and review them. Go through the list once more and continue for at least three times or until you can give the Portuguese readily for all the expressions. This test is hard, but if you succeed in saying the Portuguese for all the sentences by merely looking at the English, you are doing well indeed. To make sure of this, after you are certain you know the material, pick out expressions at random and see if you can still speak the Portuguese quickly. As you practice, you must always speak the Portuguese aloud and try to imitate the pronunciation of your Guide as well as you can recall it.

2. Vocabulary Check-up (15 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Go to the Basic Sentences. Read to the group the English equivalents of the Portuguese expressions. Call on different students, not in any fixed order, asking for the correct Portuguese for the English. This check-up is to be conducted in the same way as the Vocabulary Check-up of Section E in Unit 1. If you have any question about the proper procedure, review the note To the Group Leader in that section. Remember not to spend any time talking about the Why of the Portuguese; stick to the How.

PREPARE the following conversations by checking yourself on your ability to speak the Portuguese you have learned up to this point. As in the Vocabulary Check-up of Unit 1, the Leader of the group will ask you to supply in turn the Portuguese expressions for the English equivalents which he reads from the Basic Sentences. Figure out how to say the Portuguese for each English phrase or sentence, whether it is your turn to speak or not. Only in this way can you get the most value out of the Check-up. If there is much of the Portuguese which you don't know, review the Basic Sentences at the first opportunity outside of the group meeting.

3. Conversation (20 minutes)

To the Group Leader: This section represents the real purpose of the entire unit. The course is intended to teach you to speak Portuguese and to understand it when you hear it spoken. Follow the instructions and give all the time you can to the free conversation practice. Any members of the group who have special difficulty recalling the Portuguese words and phrases they need to express a meaning should be told to do more work with the Useful Words and Phrases and the Basic Sentences. They need, in particular, more practice in covering the Portuguese and recalling it when they read the English. Practice in getting the meaning of the Listening In records will also help. Arrangements should be made for students to play and listen to the records whenever they can between meetings of the group.

Turn to the conversation of Listening In. Assign parts and ask the students to act out part of the scene and conversation of Listening In. Vary the situations and suggest to the students that they vary the Portuguese slightly as they gain confidence in their speaking. Remember to keep the speaking loud enough so that everyone can hear. See that everyone is listening and trying to understand the Portuguese that is being spoken.

THE LEADER will assign parts and will ask you to reproduce the conversational situations of Listening In. Act your part. Don't be afraid to vary the conversation if you are sure of your Portuguese, and use the Portuguese you have learned in Unit 1 as well as in Unit 2. Continue with this practice until everyone can speak any part of the conversations even though slight changes in the situations are introduced. The following situations may be used to start with:

1. A and B, who are strangers, meet and introduce themselves. A asks about the time, B asks about a restaurant and a movie, they exchange good-byes and go on their way.
2. A meets B, a friend, and introduces a number of people to him or her.
3. A and B inquire about each other's families, names of children, etc.
4. A is leaving and asks B for information about the station and the train.

Throw yourself into these conversations. Do the best you can with pronunciation and with the Portuguese, but don't worry too much about mistakes. Think more of acting your part and speaking smoothly and as though you meant what you were saying. The Guide will help you correct your errors. If you can do this work well, it means that you are actually conversing in Portuguese, and that, of course, is your chief aim in this course.

Read again the instructions given in Section F of the preceding unit. If necessary, spend the first part of the group meeting in individual study of the Basic Sentences or checking up on the vocabulary, as in Section E. Then continue the conversations which you started in Section E.

WHAT'S YOUR TRADE?

Section A — Basic Sentences

To the Group Leader: Read carefully the note to the Leader preceding Section A of Unit 2. Then go through the Basic Sentences once, and take up the Hints on Pronunciation. Go through the Basic Sentences at least twice more individually, paying especial attention to pronunciation.

Go through the Basic Sentences, in unison, in the same way you did for Section A of the preceding Unit. Be sure to put plenty of life into your repetition of the sentences. After you have gone through the Basic Sentences once in unison and have done the Hints on Pronunciation, come back to the Basic Sentences. Pay particular attention to the points of pronunciation you have just been working on and go through the sentences at least twice more individually.

2. Hints on Pronunciation (15 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Follow the same procedure as for the Hints on Pronunciation of Unit 2. Have the group read and discuss the explanations, and then go through the Practice for each Hint with the Guide or phonograph record.

IN UNIT 1 it was called to your attention that certain groups of vowels are spoken closely together, and that each vowel keeps its own sound but is pronounced quickly with the other. In groups of vowels like these, the sounds i and u usually have less emphasis than the other vowel in the group. Practice the following sentences until you are sure you have these vowel groups right; that is, that both vowels can be heard, but run together.

(Phonograph Record III, 3)

PRACTICE 1

u‿ma-ri-NHEI-ru‿kér‿LEI-ti.	The sailor wants milk.
DOI-z‿i‿SEIS sãu‿OI-tu.	Two and six are eight.
u‿PAI‿VAI‿A‿di-REI-ta.	The father goes to the right.
meu‿NOI-vu‿SAI‿du‿rres-tau-RÃ-ti.	My fiancé leaves the restaurant.

1. The Vowel Groups. Now we would like to point out a group of words in which two vowels belong in different syllables.

When the i sound is stressed and comes before another vowel you may hear a quick y sound in between; gos-ta-RI-a sounds like gos-ta-RI-ya, na-VI-u like na-VI-yu. The unstressed i sound before another vowel is often pronounced as a y sound: a-via-DOR if pronounced quickly enough is a-vya-DOR; GLÓ-ria, GLÓ-rya; ko-MÉR-siu sounds ko-MÉR-syu.

Digitized by Google

When the u sound comes before another vowel you may hear a w sound in between: DU-as might be represented as DU-was; ma-NUÉL as ma-NWÉL; nu‿es-kri-TÓ-riu as nu‿wes-kri-TÓ-riu; u‿a-MI-gu as u‿wa-MI-gu or even as wa-MI-gu, depending on how fast you are going.

PRACTICE 2

gos-ta-RI-a‿di‿TER‿DU-as‿ser-VE-zhas.	I should like to have two beers.
ma-NUÉ-l‿i‿na-I-r‿es-TÃU‿nu‿na-VI-u.	Manuel and Nair are on the ship.
GLÓ-ria‿tra-BA-lha nũ‿es-kri-TÓ-riu‿di‿ko-MÉR-siu.	Gloria works in a business office.
u‿a-MI-gu‿du‿a-me-ri-KA-nu es-TA‿a-KI.	The American's friend is here.

It is very probable that your Guide, in pronouncing words for you to mimic, will often pronounce them one way when he says them very slowly, and a little differently when he says them quite fast. Don't be disturbed, for that is quite natural. Try to imitate him when he speaks rather fast, rather than when he is "on his good behavior," because after all the faster way is the way people really talk. Sometimes people will use the slow form in one sentence and the fast form in the next, or vice versa, as in the alternation of u‿si-NHOR and u‿SIOR in our Basic Sentences.

2. That ÃU Sound. If you get that ÃU sound right from the very beginning you can feel you are really progressing. Try pronouncing a long-drawn-out "Uh," and then send your breath into your nose at the same time. Do this gently, don't make strong, grunting noises: it isn't an unpleasant sound when done right. Then, after you can hold a fairly long ã, saying it through your nose, put a quick stop to it by rounding your lips for an u like the end sound in "into." When the ãu is unstressed, as in the "they" form of verbs, just do the same thing, only more quickly and more lightly. Don't get any "ahng" or tight, whiny sound in it.

PRACTICE 3

u‿PÃU‿i‿u‿LEI-ti es-TÃU‿a-KI.	The bread and milk are here.
kẽ‿sãu‿É-las? sãu‿az‿MÃIZ‿dus‿sol-DA-dus.	Who are they? They are the soldiers' mothers.

u-z ir-MÃUZ GÓS-tãu di PÃU.
as kri-Ã-saz nãu TẼ MÃI.

Has John five brothers? No, he has one.
The brothers like bread.
The children have no mother.

Now go through the Basic Sentences once more individually, and with your book open. As you repeat after your Guide, keep your eyes on the Aids to Listening and note in particular the examples of the sounds discussed. Again, do not hesitate to ask your Guide to repeat if you are uncertain about any sound.

Finally, go through the Basic Sentences at least once again individually. Keep your book closed, listen carefully to your Guide, and make sure that your pronunciation satisfies him.

3. Check Yourself (5 minutes)

Did you pronounce very carefully all the vowels in each of the examples of this and the previous unit?

Were you especially careful in pronouncing vowel groups? Did you get the ÃU combination?

Section B — Word Study and Review of Basic Sentences

1. Word Study (20 minutes)

Individual Study: As in Section B of Unit 2, read the word and expressions in each list and make sure that you understand the meaning of the Portuguese. Then read the comments which follow each list. When you have finished the Word Study ask other members of the group about points which are not clear to you.

COMMENT 1

The -AR Verbs. Observe the following forms:

KÉ-ru tra-ba-LHAR nũ na-VI-u.
gos-ta-RI-a di ga-NHAR MŨI-tu.
FA-sa u fa-VOR di fa-LAR di-va-GAR.
TE-nhu ke es-tu-DAR MŨI-tu.

I want to work on a ship.
I should like to earn much.
Please (to) talk slowly.
I have to study hard.

Digitized by Google

Notice the forms [1] which correspond to the English general verb form (or infinitive):

tra-ba-LHAR	to work
ga-NHAR	to earn
fa-LAR	to speak, talk
es-tu-DAR	to study

Each one of these verbs ends in –AR. The infinitive ending is very important, as it tells us what type of verb we are dealing with. There are several different types of verbs, and this one, ending in –AR is the most common. The part –AR is called the ending and the rest of the verb is called the root. The ending changes, but the root generally remains the same.

(eu) tra-BA-lhu	I work
E-li tra-BA-lha	he works
É-la tra-BA-lha	she works
u‿si-NHOR tra-BA-lha	you work
E-lis‿tra-BA-lhãu	they work
us‿si-NHO-ris‿tra-BA-lhãu	you (gentlemen) work
(nós) tra-ba-LHA-mus	we work

In these expressions you will see that the ending is the same for "he works," "she works," and "you work." It is also the same for "they work" and "you ([several] people) work." Note also that the expression for "I work" ends in –u and that for "we work" ends in –mus.

Most Portuguese verbs that end in –AR behave exactly like tra-ba-LHAR, "to work," and are quite regular, as are those which are given in the following examples:

(eu) GA-nhu‿PO-ku‿di-NHEI-ru.	I earn little money.
E-li‿a-pre-ZÊ-ta‿u‿a-MI-gu.	He introduces his friend.

[1] When we speak of a form, we always mean a form of spoken language, such as a word or any part of a word, its ending, etc.

Digitized by Google

É-la‿FA-la‿i-GLES.	She speaks English.
u‿si-NHOR‿FA-la‿BÊ u‿por-tu-GES?	Do you speak Portuguese well?
meu-z‿a-MI-gu-z‿i‿EU es-tu-DA-mus.	My friends and I study.
uz‿la-vra-DO-riz‿GA-nhãu‿PO-ku.	Farmers earn little.

COMMENT 2

The Words for "I," "he," "she," "you," "they." In the forms of tra-ba-LHAR, "to work," which we gave above, you will notice the words for "I," "he," etc., placed before the verb. This kind of word is called a pronoun.

As you saw, the ending for the verb form for "I" is -u, and no other verb form is exactly the same. The verb form for "we" always ends in -mus. Therefore you can use the pronouns before these forms or you can leave them out, as you wish. If you merely wish to state "I work on a ship" you would probably say tra-BA-lhu‿nũ‿na-VI-u, whereas if you were emphasizing the fact that you worked on a ship rather than in a factory, as your friend does, you would say EU‿tra-BA-lhu‿nũ‿na-VI-u.

In the case of the verb form for "he," "she," and "you," which is the same for all three, if there is any doubt about who is meant, you will want to specify: E-li‿tra-BA-lha, É-la‿FA-la, u‿si-NHO-r‿es-TU-da (he works, she talks, you study). If only one person is being spoken of, you may omit the pronoun, if you wish:

u‿si-NHOR‿SIL-va é‿meu‿BÕ‿a-MI-gu. tra-BA-lha nũ‿es-kri-TÓ-riu.	Mr. Silva is my good friend. He works in an office.

There is no separate word for "it" in Portuguese. Whether you are talking about one object or more than one object, you have to refer to the object or objects by the pronoun E-li (masc.) or É-la (fem.) or their plural forms, depending on whether the word for the object is masculine or feminine.

Now observe all of these features you have learned, as illustrated in the verb "to be called" or "to call oneself":

(eu) mi‿SHA-mu	I call myself
E-li‿si‿SHA-ma	he calls himself
É-la‿si‿SHA-ma	she calls herself
u‿si-NHOR‿si‿SHA-ma	you call yourself
E-lis‿si‿SHA-mãu	they call themselves us‿si-NHO-ris‿si‿SHA-mãu	you (pl.) call yourselves
(nós) nus‿sha-MA-mus	we call ourselves

Digitized by Google

COMMENT 3

When to Omit ũ or uma in Portuguese. Observe the word immediately after the verb in the following sentences:

so‿a-me-ri-KA-nu.	I am an American.
É-la‿é‿pro-fe-SO-ra.	She is a teacher.
E-li‿é‿MÉ-di-ku.	He is a doctor.
É-la‿zha‿é‿MO-sa.	She is already a young lady.

In Portuguese, a simple statement of a person's trade, profession, nationality, or religion is made without using a word for "a." You say what amounts to "I am American," "She is teacher," "He is doctor." When the statement includes some additional description, the word for "a" is not omitted, as in the following examples:

so‿ũ‿ma-ri-NHEI-ru‿a-me-ri-KA-nu.	I am an American sailor.
meu‿PAI‿é‿ũ‿BÕ‿ẽ-pre-GA-du.	My father is a good employee.
É-la‿é‿u-ma‿pro-fe-SO-ra‿di‿ĩ-GLES.	She is a teacher of English.

2. Covering English and Portuguese of Word Study (10 minutes)

Before you leave the Word Study, cover the English equivalents in each list and make sure that you know the meaning of every Portuguese expression. Then cover the Portuguese and see if you can say each Portuguese expression when you are looking only at the English.

3. Review of Basic Sentences (20 minutes)

With Guide or records review the first half of the Basic Sentences. Repeat individually with books closed. Work always to perfect your pronunciation; keep the meaning in mind; and observe examples of the points in Word Study you have just covered.

1. Review of Basic Sentences (Cont.) (25 minutes)

Review the second half of the Basic Sentences. Follow the procedure suggested above.

2. Covering the English of Basic Sentences (15 minutes)

Go back to the Basic Sentences in Section A, cover the English and test yourself by reading the Portuguese, just as you did in Section C of the previous unit. If you are not sure about the meaning of any words or phrases when you have finished reading the Basic Sentences áloud, uncover the English and look up their meaning. Keep this up until you know all the meanings completely.

3. What Would You Say? (10 minutes)

I. In the following exercise you have certain situations presented for which you are to choose the correct expression in Portuguese. Read the situation, repeat aloud all of the solutions for each situation, and then indicate for the next class meeting the answer which you consider the most appropriate.

1. Jones, Silva, and Mr. Ferreira are talking about work. Ferreira asks Jones what he does:
   - a) ke‿É‿ke‿u‿si-NHOR‿KÉR?
   - b) ke‿É‿ke‿u‿si-NHOR‿FAS?
   - c) KO-mu‿VAI‿u‿si-NHOR?

2. Jones answers that he is a sailor:

   - b) É‿ma-ri-NHEI-ru.
   - c) so‿ũ‿na-VI-u‿a-me-ri-KA-nu.

3. He says that his friend Peter works on a boat:

5. Ferreira answers that he has a factory:
   a) TE-nhu‿u-ma‿FA-bri-ka.
   b) gos-ta-RI-a‿di‿ser‿ma-ri-NHEI-ru.
   c) TE-nhu‿MÃI-tu-z‿ẽ-pre-GA-dus.

6. Jones asks: "Where do you work, Mr. Silva?" and Silva answers:
   a) SO‿pro-fe-SO-ra.
   b) tra-BA-lhu‿nũ‿es-kri-TÓ-riu.
   c) tra-BA-lhu‿MÃI-tu.

II. Fill in the blanks in the following sentences with the appropriate form of the verb given. Write nothing down, but practice aloud until you have the correct sentence at the tip of your tongue.

1. What Did You Say? (10 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Follow the same procedure as for Section D of Unit 2. Call on different students, not in any fixed order, to give their answers in Portuguese for the exercise What Would You Say? in Section C of this Unit. Encourage them to give the answers directly and not from the books, if possible. Then check on the students' knowledge of the meaning in English of the different expressions in Portuguese.

Go back to the last exercises in the preceding section. The Leader will call for your answers in Portuguese for the exercises. If you can, give the correct answers without reading from the book. Other members of the group will criticize the choice made if they disagree. The Leader will then call for the English equivalents of all the expressions in the exercises.

2. Word-Study Check-up (10 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Follow the same procedure as for this part of Section D of Unit 2. Call on various students for the correct Portuguese for the English equivalents of the expressions given in the Word Study. Make sure that all the students have learned the material thoroughly.

Go BACK to the Word Study in Section B. The Leader will ask different members of the group to give the correct Portuguese for the English equivalents of the expressions you went over in the Word Study. Be sure you are able to give the correct form without having to read it from the book. If you have difficulty in giving the correct Portuguese, review the Word Study thoroughly.

3. Listening In (30 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Follow the same procedure as for Listening In in Section D of Unit 2. Check up on meaning at the end of each conversation on the first time through; then, after the second time through, assign parts and have the students read the conversation.

KEEP YOUR BOOK closed while the Guide reads the following conversations, or while they are played on the phonograph, and repeat the Portuguese immediately after hearing it. At the end of each conversation check up on the meaning of any word or phrase about which you are in doubt, either by asking some other member of the group or by going back to the Basic Sentences if no one knows.

Go through the conversation again, with your books open, being sure to imitate carefully and to keep in mind the meaning of everything you are saying. Then take turns speaking the parts. Make the conversations real. Say your part as though you meant it.

Section E — Conversation

1. Covering the Portuguese in Basic Sentences (15 minutes)

Individual Study: Just as you did in Section E of Unit 2, go back to the Basic Sentences of this unit, cover up the Portuguese, and test yourself to see how many words and phrases you can say in Portuguese when you are looking only at the English.

Digitized by Google

2. Vocabulary Check-up (15 minutes)

To the Group Leader: As in Unit 2, go around the class calling on various students and asking them "KO-mu‿si‿DI-z‿ẽ‿por-tu-GES . . ." for the English equivalents in the Basic Sentences, with their books closed. If any student does not answer in a reasonable time, do not allow hemming and hawing; call on another student. Make sure that every student speaks up loud enough so that all can hear. Do not allow any mumbling. Any student who cannot give satisfactory answers needs more review of the Basic Sentences.

As YOU DID in Unit 2, supply the Portuguese expressions for the English equivalents in the Basic Sentences when the Leader calls on you in turn. Do not fool around and waste time; give your answers in a clear, loud voice, so that everyone can hear you.

3. Conversation (20 minutes)

To the Group Leader: Follow the same procedure as for Section F of Unit 2. Have the students converse, first following closely the model of the conversations in Listening In, and then changing the situations slightly.

As YOU DID in the Conversation in Section F of Unit 2, first go through the Listening In section of this unit, taking turns reading the conversations with your book open. As soon as you can speak the parts smoothly without looking at your books, pass to acting them out in front of the group; keep this up until you can do it easily and smoothly.

Then you can change the situations somewhat, and introduce material from the previous units. Use your imagination in thinking up various combinations of situations. For example, when one person meets another, they can talk about their families, their friends, and their work, and then one can invite the other to go to a restaurant; when they are at the restaurant, one of them can ask the other what he wants, order food, and then pay for it. Or you can have a conversation in which two persons talk about their friends and their friends' work, parents, brothers and sisters, children, and so forth.

Continue the conversations started in Section E. If necessary to make the conversations smoother and more successful, review parts 1 and 2 of Section E.

2. Hints on Pronunciation (15 minutes)

1. t before i. Most Brazilians pronounce t before the vowel sound i with somewhat of a y sound at the end of the consonant t; this pronunciation of t may even go so far as to approach a sound like ch, depending on the part of the country or the social level the speaker comes from. It is never, however, a full ch sound like our English ch in church.

(Phonograph Record IV, 3)

PRACTICE 1

BO-az‿NOI-tis.	Good evening.
a‿NOI-ti‿é‿bo-NI-ta.	It is a fine night.
u‿rres-tau-RÃ-ti es-TA‿a-LI‿a-DIÃ-ti.	The restaurant is ahead there.
u‿NÓR-ti‿du‿bra-ZIL é‿i-por-TÃ-ti.	The north of Brazil is important.
meu‿TI-u‿i‿mi-nha‿TI-a sãu‿di‿sãu‿PAU-lu.	My uncle and my aunt are from São Paulo.

2. d before i. Likewise, most Brazilians pronounce d before the vowel sound i with somewhat of a y sound at the end of the consonant d, and this pronunciation may vary even as far as a sound somewhat like (but not so full or strong as) our English dj.

PRACTICE 2

a‿si-DA-di‿é‿GRÃ-di.	The city is large.
u‿rres-tau-RÃ-ti‿di‿DO-na‿ma-RI-a é‿BÕ.	Dona Maria's restaurant is good.
es-TA‿A‿di-REI-ta.	It is to the right.
Õ-di‿es-TA‿u‿rres-tau-RÃ-ti?	Where is the restaurant?

3. The Portuguese r Sound is very different from the English sound of r. Be sure to keep the tip of your tongue forward, and have it tap against the upper front teeth, instead of in the back part of your mouth. Between two vowels, the Portuguese r is usually made with a single tap of the tongue; at the end of a word it is often almost whispered; elsewhere or after another consonant it is usually pronounced with several taps of the tongue.

Digitized by Google

PRACTICE 3

KÉR	fa-LAR	FÓS-fo-ru	kri-Ã-sa
ko-MER	es-tu-DAR	KUA-tru	es-kri-TÓ-riu si-NHOR	tra-ba-LHAR	kru-ZEI-ru	di-NHEI-ru pra-ZER	la-vra-DOR	ma-RI-a

Another r sound in Portuguese is that which we have represented by rr. It is a repeated tap made with the tip of the tongue against the upper front teeth, such as telephone operators make in saying thrrree, or children make in imitating an electric drill or an airplane motor. In some regions of Brazil this rr sound is made in the back of the mouth, and sounds like "Parisian" r in French or even like our English h sound.

PRACTICE 4

rro-BÉR-tu	rres-tau-RÃ-ti
RRI-u	rre-SI-fi

4. The Portuguese l Sound is somewhat different from American English l. At the beginning of a syllable it is made with the tip of the tongue against the upper front teeth, a so-called "front" or "bright" l such as most British speakers of English use. At the end of a syllable it is more like our English l pronounced in the back of the mouth, so much so as, in some regions and social classes of Brazil, to be practically like u.

PRACTICE 5

LEI-ti	a-LI	o-TÉL	por-tu-GAL
la-vra-DOR	fa-LAR	ma-NUÉL	SUL
bra-zi-LEI-ru	pau-LIS-ta	bra-ZIL	na-TAL

5. The Other Portuguese Consonant Sounds are pronounced more or less like the corresponding sounds in English. This is true for b, d, f, g (always "hard"), k, m, n, p, s, t, v, and z.

Digitized by Google

3. Check Yourself (5 minutes)

Now go through the Basic Sentences once more individually with your book open. Again, as you repeat after your Guide, pay especial attention to the examples of the sounds we have just discussed; if there is anything you are uncertain about, ask your Guide to repeat.

Then go through the Basic Sentences at least once more, taking turns in doing solo work this time with your book closed. Listen carefully to the Guide, and make sure that your pronunciation satisfies him.

Section B — Word Study and Review of Basic Sentences

1. Word Study (20 minutes)

In doing the Word Study, follow the same procedure as in earlier units.

COMMENT 1

Speaking of our Friends. Notice the names and the words used immediately before them:

BO-as‿TAR-dis, si-nhor‿ZHUÃU.	Good evening, Mr. Jones (lit., Mr. John).
MŨI-tu‿pra-ZER, DO-na‿ma-RI-a.	Very glad to know you, Mrs. Silva (lit., Lady Mary).
u‿si-nhor‿PE-dru‿vai‿BẼ?	You are well, I hope? (speaking to Mr. Peter Smith)
DO-na‿na-I-r‿es-TA‿a-KI? / a‿si-nho-RI-ta‿na-I-r‿es-TA‿a-KI?	Is Miss Nair here?
KO-mu‿VAI, si-nho-RI-ta‿GLÓ-ria?	How are you, Miss Gloria?

Among acquaintances, it is much more usual in Brazil to call people by their first names than by their last, even when they are addressed as Mr., Miss, or Mrs. Often Brazilians call Americans by their last names because they see that is the American custom, but the natural thing among them is to use the first name. This is preceded by si-NHOR in the case of a man's name, and by DO-na in the case of a woman's name (whether she is married or not). After you become sufficiently friendly with a man, you drop the si-NHOR, just as you would drop "Mr."

Digitized by Google

in English. You go on using DO-na before the ladies' names, however, or else use a‿si-NHÓ-ra before a married lady's name and a‿si-nho-RI-ta before an unmarried lady's name.

Expressions like a‿si-NHÓ-ra‿SIL-va (instead of DO-na‿ma-RI-a) and a‿si-nho-RI-ta‿SIL-va (instead of DO-na‿na-IR) are used by people who have taken over the American and French custom of calling a lady by her last name.

COMMENT 2

People and Places. Observe the following:

u‿si-nhor‿GÓS-ta‿du‿bra-ZIL?	Do you like Brazil?
GÓS-tu‿MÃI-tu‿du‿bra-ZIL.	I like Brazil very much.
EU‿gos-ta-RI-a‿di‿vol-TA-r‿au‿RRI-u.	I would like to return to Rio.
sãu‿PAU-lu‿é‿ma-IÓR du‿ke‿u‿RRI-u?	Is São Paulo larger than Rio?
u‿si-NHOR GÓS-ta‿MAIZ‿du-z‿es-TA-du-z‿u-NI-dus?	Do you like the United States better?

The use of the words for "the" before names of places depends to a certain extent on custom. In general, they are used before the names of states and not before the names of cities. However, "Rio" is regularly preceded by the word for "the": eu‿SO‿du‿RRI-u, "I am from Rio"; VÓL-tu‿au‿RRI-u, "I return to Rio." "Brazil" is always u‿bra-ZIL, and names of countries usually take "the": u-z‿es-TA-du-z‿u-NI-dus, "the United States"; but "Portugal" is usually simply por-tu-GAL.

COMMENT 3

How to Express "in the," "of the," "to the," etc.

MÃI-tu‿pra-ZE-r‿Ẽ‿ko-nhe-SER.	Much pleasure in knowing you.
u‿si-NHOR‿MÓ-ra‿ẽ‿NÓ-va IÓR-ki?	Do you live in New York?
u‿ma-ri-NHEI-ru‿tra-BA-lha‿nu‿na-VI-u.	The sailor works on the ship.
E-li‿tra-BA-lha‿na‿FA-bri-ka.	He works in the factory.
É-la‿tra-BA-lha‿nũ‿es-kri-TÓ-riu.	She works in an office.
es-TÃU‿nu-ma‿si-DA-di‿du‿bra-ZIL.	They are in a city of Brazil.

Digitized by Google

EU_KÉ-ru_tra-ba-LHAR nũ_na-VI-u.	I want to work on a ship.
TE-nhu_FI-lhus nu-z_es-TA-du-z_u-NI-dus.	I have children in the United States.
SĨ, tra-BA-lhu_NES-ti_na-VI-u.	Yes, I work on this ship.
tra-BA-lhu_NÉS-ta_si-DA-di.	I work in this city.

The word ẽ, meaning "in" or "on," is combined with the Portuguese words for "the," "a," and "this" to make one word, which stands for "in the," "on the," etc., as shown in the examples above; when it is combined in this way, the element of the combined form which means "in" or "on" is always n. Observe the combined forms you would get:

ẽ	combined	with	u	gives	you	nu
"	"	"	a	"	"	na
"	"	"	ũ	"	"	nũ
"	"	"	u-ma	"	"	nu-ma
"	"	"	ES-ti	"	"	NES-ti
"	"	"	ÉS-ta	"	"	NÉS-ta

Observe the italicized words in the following:

FA-sa_u_fa-VOR *di*_fa-LAR_di-va-GAR.	Please speak slowly (lit., do the favor of speaking slowly).
meu_PAI é_ẽ-pre-GA-du_*di*_ko-MÉR-siu.	My father is a business clerk (lit., a clerk of commerce).

u_si-NHO-r_é_*du-z*_es-TA-du-z_u-NI-dus.	You are from the United States.
« ka-RIÓ-ka » é_*da*_si-DA-di_du_RRI-u.	"Carioca" means from the city of Rio.

In expressions meaning "of the," "of a," "of this," the word di (meaning "of" or "from") is combined with the word for "the," "a" or "this," just as ẽ is; in such expressions the element meaning "of" or "from" is d. Now observe the following:

VÓL-tu‿a‿sãu‿PAU-lu.	I am returning to São Paulo.
gos-ta-RI-a‿di‿vol-TA-r‿au-z‿es-TA-du-z‿u-NI-dus.	I should like to return to the United States.
EU‿gos-ta-RI-a‿di vol-TA-r‿au‿RRI-u.	I should like to return to Rio.
a‿es-ta-SÃU‿es-TA‿A‿di-REI-ta.	The station is to the right.

The combined forms you would get here are as follows:

di	combined	with u	gives	you	du
"	"	" a	"	"	da
"	"	" us (uz)	"	"	dus (duz)
"	"	" as (az)	"	"	das (daz)
"	"	" ES-ti	"	"	DES-ti
"	"	" ÉS-ta	"	"	DÉS-ta

The word for "to" (a) contracts with the Portuguese words for "the" just as ẽ and di do, forming au, aus (or auz) before masculine nouns in the singular and plural, and A and AS (or AZ) before feminine nouns in the singular and plural respectively. This A is usually stressed, and hence different from a meaning just "to."

COMMENT 4

Notice the Verb "to like"

GÓS-tu‿MŨI-tu‿du‿bra-ZIL.	I like Brazil very much.
gos-ta-RI-a‿di‿fi-KA-r‿a-KI.	I should like to remain here.
gos-TA-muz‿du-z‿es-TA-du-z‿u-NI-dus.	We like the United States.
gos-ta-RI-a‿di‿SER‿seu‿pro-fe-SOR.	I should like to be your teacher.

The verb gos-TAR, "to like," must always have the word di (either alone or, if necessary, combined with the words for "the") placed before the word which indicates the thing or person liked, as in the example above.

Section D — Listening In

1. What Did You Say? (10 minutes)

Give your answers in Portuguese for the last exercise in the preceding section when the Leader calls for them. Do it without reading from the book if possible. Other members of the group will criticize your choice if they disagree with it. Then give the English equivalents of all the expressions in the exercise.

2. Word Study Check-up (10 minutes)

Give the correct Portuguese for each English expression in the Word Study, without having to read it from the book. If you cannot do this easily, it means you need to put in more work on the Word Study. The Group Leader will give the English and call on different members of the group for the Portuguese.

3. Listening In (30 minutes)

With your book closed, repeat the Portuguese of the following conversations immediately after the Guide or the record. After each conversation, check up on the meaning of anything you do not understand, by asking someone else or by going back to the Basic Sentences if necessary.

Go through the conversation again with books open, following the same plan as before, imitating carefully and keeping in mind the meaning of everything that you say.

Section E — Conversation

1. Covering the Portuguese in Basic Sentencès (15 minutes)

Cover the Portuguese of the Basic Sentences and practice saying the Portuguese equivalents of the English expressions. This is individual study.

2. Vocabulary Check-up (15 minutes)

Give the Portuguese expressions for the English equivalents in the Basic Sentences as the Leader calls for them.

3. Conversation (20 minutes)

The Leader will assign parts in the Listening In conversation. Act them out in front of the group; keep this up until you can do it easily and smoothly. Then change the situations somewhat. You now have material which you can work into your conversations. Invent the same kind of conversation which you did for the previous units. One person meets another, and conversation takes place on models such as these:

1. Two acquaintances meet. One is from New York, the other from Rio. Each thinks his home town is best, the one because it is large, the other because it is pretty. The New Yorker says San Francisco or Washington are prettier than Rio. The other says Natal is smaller than these others and less important, but that he prefers Natal to both New York and Washington.
2. A introduces B to his cousin C. C asks where B comes from and learns that he is from San Francisco. C has an uncle and a brother in San Francisco; one is a sailor, the other works in a factory. A says that B works in a large hotel. C asks where the hotel is and B tells him it is across the street from the station. C says it must be the Hotel Saint Paul, etc.
3. A joins B. B asks A if he would like a cup of coffee. B refuses and says he would prefer a glass of beer. A asks how his sister is. B says she has married a Cariocan. A asks what B means by "Cariocan," and B explains.

Digitized by Google

In answer to A's question, B tells him they will live at Belem on the Amazon. His sister's husband is a business clerk and she is an English teacher. Belem is very pretty.

4. A greets B. A says he would like to eat and asks B where he can find a good restaurant. B says there is one straight ahead, but the one at the station is better. A says he knows Gloria who works there. B says he thinks the restaurant is good. A says the food is good but the girl is not pretty. He asks B to go with him to the other.

2. Hints on Pronunciation (20 minutes)

In Unit 1 you were told that e and E sound like ey in they, without the y, while é and É sound like e in let. The difference between e and é should be as distinct as that between lay and let in English. Similarly, o and O sound like the o in low, while ó and Ó sound like the o in cloth. In order to help you remember these differences, we have made up two groups of sentences below. The first group gives you a chance to practice the open o which is like the o in cloth, and the open e which is like the sound of e in let.

PRACTICE 1

ÉS-ta ‿ é ‿ a ‿ si-NHÓ-ra ‿ di ‿ zhu-ZÉ.	This is José's wife.
rro-BÉR-tu ‿ é ‿ NÓ-su ‿ FI-lhu.	Robert is our son.

a ‿ FÉS-ta ‿ é ‿ a-gra-DA-vél.	It is a pleasant party.

The next group gives you a chance to practice the close e which is like the e in they, and close o which is like the o in low.

PRACTICE 2

ES-ti ‿ si-NHOR si ‿ SHA-ma ‿ ZHO-nis.	This gentleman is called Jones.

E-li ‿ gos-ta-RI-a ‿ di ‿ ser-VE-zha.	He would like beer.

Remember to run two vowel sounds, as in OI-tu, LEI-ti, together very quickly.

Each of the following sentences has at least one open and one close o and one open and one close e. See if you can make them clearly different, without exaggerating so that they sound unnatural.

Section B — Word Study and Review of Basic Sentences

1. Word Study (20 minutes)

COMMENT 1

Adjectives. Notice the words italicized in the following:

é‿ũ‿na-VI-u‿a-me-ri-KA-nu.	It is an American ship.
u‿A-r‿es-TA‿pe-ZA-du.	The air is heavy.
na-TA-l‿é‿u-ma‿si-DA-di‿pi-KE-na.	Natal is a small city.
u‿RRI-u‿é‿u-ma‿si-DA-di‿bo-NI-ta.	Rio is a pretty city.
us‿PRI-mus‿sãu‿bra-zi-LEI-rus.	The cousins are Brazilian.
az‿NOI-tis‿sãu‿es-KU-ras.	The nights are dark.

In these sentences, such words as a-me-ri-KA-nu, bo-NI-ta, bra-zi-LEI-rus, and so on, describe the nouns or pronouns to which they refer. This kind of word is called an adjective. Most adjectives in Portuguese have endings just like those of ordinary nouns, as they may end in –u or –a. But, whereas each noun ordinarily has only one ending (–u for a masculine noun, –a for a feminine noun), an adjective will normally end in either –u or –a, depending on the noun or pronoun it refers to (or modifies). If the adjective modifies a masculine noun, the adjective normally ends in –u; thus we have u‿na-VI-u‿a-me-ri-KA-nu, "the American ship"; u‿A-r‿es-TA‿pe-ZA-du, "the air is heavy." But if the adjective modifies a feminine noun, the adjective normally ends in –a; thus we have u-ma‿si-DA-di‿bo-NI-ta, "a pretty city." When an adjective has the proper form, in this way, to go with the noun it modifies, we say it agrees with that noun.

If the noun or pronoun with which the adjective must agree is plural, then the adjective, in the proper masculine or feminine form, ends in –s, just as the noun does:

Digitized by Google

é u-ma si-DA-di ĩ-por-TÃ-ti.	It is an important city.
u sãu PAU-lu é ĩ-por-TÃ-ti.	São Paulo is important.
u na-VI-u bra-zi-LEI-ru é GRÃ-di.	The Brazilian ship is large.
a es-ta-SÃU é GRÃ-di.	The station is large.
a NOI-ti es-TA a-gra-DA-vél.	The night is pleasant.
u RRI-u é ma-IÓR du ke na-TAL.	Rio is larger than Natal.
na-TA-l é me-NÓR du ke ÉS-ta-Z O-tras si-DA-dis.	Natal is smaller than these other cities.
u RRI-u i sãu PAU-lu sãu as ma-IÓ-ris si-DA-diz du bra-ZIL.	Rio and São Paulo are the largest cities in Brazil.
na-TA-l i rre-SI-fi sãu me-NÓ-ris.	Natal and Recife are smaller.
as si-DA-diz GRÃ-dis sãu ĩ-por-TÃ-tis.	Large cities are important.

As you can see, some adjectives have only one form for both masculine and feminine. When they must agree with a plural noun or pronoun they end in –s (or, of course, under certain conditions, –z).

Note: Some adjectives ending in –l, like agraDAvél, have special changes in the plural which we shall take up later.

Observe the ending of the adjectives in the following:

ma-NUÉ-l é ka-RIÓ-ka.	Manuel is a Cariocan (born in Rio city).
GLÓ-ria nãu é ka-RIÓ-ka.	Gloria is not a Cariocan.
u TI-u di ma-NUÉL é pau-LIS-ta.	Manuel's uncle is a São Paulan.
SU-as PRI-mas sãu pau-LIS-tas.	His (girl) cousins are São Paulans.

A few adjectives, which have only one form for masculine and feminine, end in –a. They usually indicate the group (nation, region, profession, political party) to which the person referred to belongs.

And now observe the forms of the adjective "good":

Digitized by Google

a‿FÉS-ta‿es-TA‿BO-a.	It is a nice party.
u‿ka-FÉ‿é‿BÕ.	Coffee is good.
TE-nhu‿MŨI-tuz‿BÕ-z‿a-MI-gus.	I have many good men friends.
TE-nhu‿BO-a-z‿a-MI-gas.	I have good women friends.

The Portuguese words for "good" do not follow the regular pattern, so you must notice them especially. There are only a few such adjectives which you must just learn as they are. They are called irregular because they don't follow regular patterns.

COMMENT 2

How to Express "to be"

es-TA‿es-KU-ru.	It is dark.
es-TA‿a-gra-DA-vé-l‿a-KI.	It is pleasant here.
u‿TÊ-pu‿es-TA‿SE-ku.	The weather is dry.
u‿A-r‿es-TA‿pe-ZA-du.	The air is heavy.
a‿FÉS-ta‿es-TA‿BO-a.	It's a good party.
u‿DI-a‿es-TA‿es-KU-ru.	The day is dark.
a‿ser-VE-zha‿es-TA‿FRI-a.	The beer is cold.
u‿si-nhor‿SIL-va‿es-TA‿a-KI.	Mr. Silva is here.
(nó-z) es-TA-mus‿kõ‿ka-LOR.	We are warm.

The verb es-TAR (es-TO, es-TA, es-TA-mus, es-TÃU) is used for "to be" ("am," "is," "are") when the condition spoken of is temporary or accidental. "It is dark" right now, but the darkness will change to light eventually. When we say "It is pleasant here" we know that conditions could easily change and make it unpleasant. When we say "It's a good party," we mean that for the time being everything is going along well.

But notice how the same verb is used in the following sentences:

a‿es-ta-SÃU‿es-ta‿A‿di-REI-ta.	The station is (situated) to the right.
Õ-di‿es-TA‿u‿rres-tau-RÃ-ti?	Where is the restaurant (situated)?

Digitized by Google

fi-la-DÉL-fia‿es-TA‿nu‿NÓR-ti‿du-z‿ es-TA-du-z‿u-NI-dus.	Philadelphia is (situated) in the north of the United States.

The verb es-TAR is also used for "to be" when a location is being determined, when we mean "is situated" as in the examples above.

Now notice these other words used to express "to be":

ES-ta‿si-DA-di‿é‿FRES-ka.	This city is cool.
u‿RRI-u‿é‿MŨI-tu‿bo-NI-tu.	Rio is very pretty.
ÉS-ta‿é‿MI-nha‿si-NHÓ-ra.	This is my wife.
u‿pra-ZE-r‿é‿TO-du‿meu.	The pleasure is all mine.
EU‿SO‿di‿fi-la-DÉL-fia.	I am from Philadelphia.
É‿Ó-ra‿di‿ko-MER.	It is time to eat.
a-GÓ-ra‿é‿TÊ-pu‿di‿ka-LOR.	Now it is warm weather.
SO-mu-z‿a-me-ri-KA-nus.	We are American.

The verb SER (SO, É, SO-mus, SÃU) is used for "to be" when the condition spoken of is permanent or habitual, as in "This city is cool." It is also used for showing possession, as in "This is my wife," or "The pleasure is all mine."

ZHÓR-zhi‿é‿ũ‿MO-su‿BÕ.	George is a good young man (he has a kind disposition).
DO-na‿ma-RI-a‿é‿MŨI-tu‿BO-a.	Dona Maria is very good (kind).
ma-NUÉL‿zha‿es-TA‿BÕ.	Manuel is already well (he has recovered from his illness).
KO-mu‿VAI, DO-na‿na-IR? es-TO‿BO-a, o-bri-GA-da.	How are you, Miss Nair? I am well, thank you.

The adjective BÕ, BO-a, "good," takes on the meaning "well," "in good health," when used with the verb es-TAR. With the verb SER it keeps its original meaning of "good," "kind."

Digitized by Google

The question of whether we should use es-TAR or SER to express "to be" is one of the harder things in Portuguese. You will need to notice very carefully each example as it comes along. At first simply memorize each expression containing SER or es-TAR just as you find it; later on you will understand the pattern.

COMMENT 3

Greetings. You have learned so far the following greetings and expressions of courtesy:

BÕZ‿DI-as.	Good morning.
BO-as‿TAR-dis.	Good afternoon.
BO-az‿NOI-tis.	Good evening.
MÜI-tu‿o-bri-GA-du.	Thank you (said by a man).
MÜI-tu‿o-bri-GA-da.	Thank you (said by a woman).

The first three forms of greeting are used, respectively, in the morning, in the afternoon, and in the evening (after dark). They may be used either on meeting someone or on taking leave. For all three of them, moreover, the singular form (BÕ‿DI-a, BO-a‿TAR-di, BO-a‿NOI-ti) is often used as well as the plural form we have learned.

Note: The forms for "thank you" are really the shortened forms of longer and more formal expressions for "thank you," which correspond almost exactly to the expression that we sometimes use in English, "I am much obliged to you":

FI-ku‿MÜI-tu‿o-bri-GA-du‿A‿si-NHÓ-ra.	I remain much obliged to you (said by a man to a woman).
FI-ku‿MÜI-tu‿o-bri-GA-da‿au‿si-NHOR.	I remain much obliged to you (said by a woman to a man).

In the first of these two sentences a man is talking, and consequently the adjective o-bri-GA-du is masculine, to agree with the subject of the sentence (after a verb indicating "being" or the like). In the second sentence a woman is talking, and consequently o-bri-GA-da is feminine. When the shortened forms of these expressions are used, o-bri-GA-du must naturally be used by a man, and o-bri-GA-da by a woman.

Section D — Listening In

1. What Did You Say? (10 minutes)

Give your answers in Portuguese for each of the exercises in the preceding section when the Leader calls for them. Do it without reading from the book, if possible. Other members will criticize your choice if they disagree with it. Then give the English equivalents of all the expressions in the exercise.

2. Word Study Check-up (10 minutes)

Give the correct Portuguese for each English expression in the Word Study without having to read it from the book. If you cannot do this easily, it means you need to put in more work on the Word Study. The Group Leader will give the English and call on different members of the group for the Portuguese.

3. Listening In (30 minutes)

With your book closed repeat the Portuguese of the following conversations immediately after the Guide or phonograph record. After each conversation, check up on the meaning of anything you do not understand, by asking someone else or by going back to the Basic Sentences if no one knows. Go through the conversation again with books open, following the same plan as before, imitating carefully and keeping in mind the meaning of everything you say.

2. Vocabulary Check-up (15 minutes)

Give the Portuguese expressions for the English equivalents in the Basic Sentences as the Leader calls for them.

3. Conversation (20 minutes)

As you have done in the Conversation in the previous units, begin to converse by following the model of Listening In fairly closely; then change the situations somewhat.

1. Two persons meet on the street. After the usual inquiries concerning each other's health, they talk about the weather, and then one invites the other to a restaurant. They order food, pay for it, and take leave of each other.
2. Two persons are at home, and two visitors come to call. After greetings and inquiries concerning each other's health, the conversation turns to the hosts' relatives and their whereabouts. Then the visitors ask for the railway station, receive directions, and take their leave.
3. Three men meet on the street; one of them is a stranger to the other two. After greetings and introductions, the three tell each other about their work. Then they take leave of each other.
4. You talk with your uncle about the weather in different parts of Brazil.

By now you have a fair amount of material that you can bring into your conversations. Invent new combinations of subject matter, on models such as these:

REVIEW

Section A — What do You Know in Portuguese?

To the Group Leader: This unit is intended to furnish the group with a thorough review of all the work done to date: understanding of vocabulary, use of vocabulary, and grammar. Pronunciation should be the object of attention whenever the students are talking. Either the Guide or, if there is no Guide, the Leader and other students should correct faulty pronunciation.

Section A is a true-false quiz which is to be read to the group by the Guide or played on the phonograph records. Each student is to write the numbers from 1 to 80 on a sheet of paper. After hearing each statement in Portuguese, the students are to mark T opposite the number of that statement if they consider it a true statement, and F if they consider it false. If the students understand the Portuguese they will have no difficulty in deciding whether or not the statements are true or false.

Use the first item in the quiz as a practice item. When you are ready to start, announce "Statement 1," and give the signal to the Guide to begin, or start the phonograph record. The Guide or record will then give the Portuguese statement: "u-z‿a-me-ri-KA-nuz‿nãu‿kõ-pre-Ẽ-dẽ‿i-GLES," and will repeat the statement once more. Explain to the group that, since the meaning of this statement is: "Americans do not understand English," they should write an F after the figure 1 on their papers. Then announce "Statement 2" and continue with the Guide or phonograph record. Each statement in Portuguese is to be presented twice. When working with a Guide, continue to call the number of each statement throughout the quiz so that the students will have no trouble keeping the proper place. Take the quiz with the rest of the group.

In the Guide's manual you will find a list giving the correct answers (T or F) for the Portuguese items, together with the English equivalents. After the quiz is over, read to the group the correct answers, T or F, for each item. The students are to check their papers. Find the average number of correct answers per student for your group and include your own answers. Any student who gets less than the average number of answers or less than 80% (whichever is higher) correct, needs more thorough study and review of the preceding units.

Use the rest of the period to repeat the Portuguese expressions for which students had the wrong answer and read the English equivalents of these statements if they wish to have them. Be sure that the students understand the meaning of all the items which they got wrong; those are the items on which their vocabulary is weak and needs further study.

THIS UNIT provides several tests which will help you to make sure that you have thoroughly learned the work of the first five units of the course. They will show you what you may need to restudy or review.

Section A is a true-false quiz. After you have marked the numbers 1 to 80 on a sheet of paper, your Leader will have the Guide read, or will play the phonograph records containing a number of statements in Portuguese. As you hear each sentence, decide whether the statement is true or false. Decide whether the statement is usually true or usually false. Do not go into particular cases. If you think the statement is true, mark T opposite the number corresponding to the number of the sentence that has just been spoken. If you think it is false, mark F opposite the number. The first item will be a practice item and will show you just how you are to proceed with the rest of the sentences.

After you have done this work, the Leader will go through your answers with you as a group, and will tell you which statements are true and which are false. Score your paper, counting one for each correct answer. The Leader will figure out the average score for your group. If your score falls below the average of the group as a whole, you need more study and review of the previous units.

Use the rest of the period to go over the sentences again with your Guide or records. For each item on which you are wrong, be sure that you understand why you are wrong and what the true meaning of the item is.

If you come out well on this quiz, that indicates that you have a pretty good understanding of practically all the work you have covered to date.

SECTION B — PUTTING IT INTO PORTUGUESE

Individual Study: Go through the following English sentences and prepare to say the equivalents for the English at your next group meeting. Do not write anything down, but say the Portuguese equivalents out loud and keep Section C — How Do You Say It?

To the Group Leader: Simply follow the directions given below.

This Section is a drill on the work you have done in Section B of this unit. Keep your book closed. The Leader will call on members of the group (but not in any fixed order) to speak the Portuguese equivalents of the English sentences given in Section B. The work must be kept moving rapidly, and interest should never lag. If the Guide is present he is to listen and correct your pronunciation and expressions.

This section is intended to give you a check on your ability to use the vocabulary you have learned.

Section E — How Do You Say It?

To the Group Leader: Simply follow the directions given below.

As in Section C, the Leader will go around the group and ask various members to supply (with books closed) the Portuguese equivalents for the sentences given in Section D. If the Guide is present, he will listen and correct pronunciation and expressions.

This section is intended to give you a check on your understanding of the way the language is built and functions.

Section F — Conversation

The members of the group will carry on short conversations lasting not more than one or two minutes, in which the entire contents of the preceding units should be used. Everyone should have a chance to take part as many times as possible. The situations of the conversations should be varied and combined as much as possible. GETTING A ROOM

To the Group Leader and Members of the Group: The pattern for each unit has been set in Units 2–6 of Part One. From now on no detailed instructions will be given for any section unless the plan of work for that particular section departs from the customary procedure. If you are in doubt as to the correct procedure at any given point, turn back to the corresponding section of Unit 2 where directions are given in full.

You will notice that the ordinary or conventional spelling is given here for the first time. Pay no attention to it the first time you repeat the Basic Sentences. You will find further instructions in the Hints on Pronunciation.

You will notice also that henceforth, in the Aids to Listening, the hyphens are no longer included.

Hints on Spelling

Individual Study: From this unit on, we are presenting the Portuguese material not only in the simplified spelling used in the Aids to Listening, but in conventional Portuguese spelling as well. We have not given the conventional spelling before now, because the idea was that you should get firm habits of correct pronunciation, and learn the language "by sound." From now on, when listening to the Guide and imitating, keep your eyes on the column containing the conventional spelling. If you have any difficulty in pronouncing, check with the center column, which contains the Aids to Listening, for a closer representation of the sound.

Digitized by Google

1. Vowel Letters in conventional spelling are in general the same as those used in Aids to Listening. However, make special note of the following differences:

a) There is usually no indication in conventional spelling as to whether e and o are open (as in let and cloth), which heretofore we have indicated with the slant line é and ó, or closed (as in they and close). Thus o-TÉL, "hotel," is written hotel; Ó-ra, "hour," is written hora; KÉ-ru, ke-RE-mus, "I want," "we want," are written quero, queremos. You will need to keep your ears open to notice and remember these differences as you go on from here.

b) Portuguese words regularly have their stress on the next-to-the-last syllable, except for words ending in –l, –r, –z, and nasal vowels or combinations (see exception under Nasal Vowels). Examples: apresento a-pre-ZẼ-tu, senhorita si-nho-RI-ta, telefone te-le-FO-ni; trabalhar tra-ba-LHAR, Brasil bra-ZIL, Nair na-IR, irmão ir-MÃU. So far we have indicated the stressed syllable by using capitals, and we shall continue to do so in the Aids to Listening for the next group of lessons, but you will have to begin noticing the principles that govern the stress. Whenever the stress is not on the next-to-the-last syllable, the stressed syllable is marked with a stress mark in traditional spelling. This is usually the slant line if the stressed vowel is an a, i, u, or open e and o. Examples: Glória, escritório (ri and o or a count as separate syllables in spelling), elétrico, também, aquí, até, fósforo.

If, however, the stressed syllable (when it is not the next-to-the-last syllable) is a closed e or o, it is written ê and ô. Examples: português, inglês, você, residência, Antônio, Nhonhô.

c) The unstressed i, especially at the end of words, is written e in traditional spelling: PÓdi, "he can," is written pode; siNHOR, "sir," is written senhor; di‿NOIti, "at night," is written de noite. The unstressed u, especially at the end of words, is written o: a-MI-gu, "friend," is written amigo; TEnhu, "I have," is written tenho. However, go on pronouncing these words as you learned them, by sound, and not necessarily the way they look.

2. Nasal Vowels are written two ways in conventional spelling. In the middle of a word, a nasal vowel is usually represented by a vowel letter with an m or n in the same syllable; at the end of a word, by a vowel letter followed by m or by a vowel letter with the wavy line (~) over it. Examples: ĩ-por-TÃ-ti, "important," is written importante; kõ-pre-Ẽ-du, "I understand," is written compreendo; ir-MÃU, "brother," irmão; tãBẼ, "also," também.

Digitized by Google

Whenever a word ends in a nasal written with a wavy line (~), that last syllable is the stressed syllable. Examples: maNHÃ, "morning," written manhã; pẽSÃU, "boarding-house," pensão. Words that in traditional spelling end in -am or -em do not have the stress on the last syllable unless a special mark is used to indicate it, as in também. Thus falam, "they speak," is pronounced FA-lãu; comem, "they eat," is pronounced KO-mẽ.

COMMENT 1

"Let's" in Portuguese

Vamos estar muito bem aquí.	VAmuz‿esTAR‿MÕItu‿BẼ aKI.	We are going to be very comfortable here.
Vamos falar do cinema.	VAmus‿faLAR‿du‿siNEma.	Let's talk about the movies.
Vamos à casa de dona Ana!	VAmuz A‿KAza‿di‿DOna‿Ana!	Let's go to Dona Ana's house!

Vamos, in the first place, is the "we" form of the verb ir, "to go," meaning "we go" or "we are going." In this same meaning, it is used before an infinitive to say, as in English, "We are going to be comfortable" in the sense of "We expect to be comfortable."

Then it is used before an infinitive, in an exclamation type of sentence, to mean "let's," as in Vamos falar do cinema. Note that when you want to say "let's go," you simply say vamos: Vamos à casa de dona Ana.

COMMENT 2

Verbs in -ER

Muito prazer em conhecer.	MÕItu‿praZER ẽ‿konheSER.	Pleased to know you.
Gostaria de ter um quarto.	gostaRIa‿di‿TER ũ‿KUARtu.	I would like to have a room.
Podem ver; a mobília é boa.	PÓdẽ‿VER; a‿moBIlia‿é‿BOa.	You can see; the furniture is good.
Quer ir ao cinema comigo?	KÉR‿Ir au‿siNEma‿koMIgu?	Do you want to go to the movie with me?
Vemos que o quarto é bom.	VEmus‿ke‿u‿KUARtu é‿BÕ.	We see that it is a good room.

There are not so many verbs whose infinitives end in -ER as there are verbs ending in -AR. They are not so generally regular, either. Whenever a new -ER verb appears, check in the Finder List to see if it is marked regular. If so, the endings for the Present Tense will be as follows:

Digitized by Google

(Eu) como num bom restaurante.	(eu)‿KOmu nũ‿BÕ‿rrestauRÃti.	I eat in a good restaurant.
O senhor come carne.	u‿siNHOR‿KOmi‿KARni.	You eat meat.
Ele não come quando está cansado.	Eli‿nãu‿KOmi KUÃdu‿esTA‿kãSAdu.	He doesn't eat when he is tired.
Ela come muito.	Éla‿KOmi‿MÕItu.	She eats a lot.
Eles comem no navio.	Elis‿KOmẽ‿nu‿naVIu.	They eat on the ship.
Elas comem em casa.	Élas‿KOmẽ‿ẽ‿KAza.	They (ladies) eat at home.
(Nós) comemos na cidade.	(nós) koMEmuz‿na‿siDAdi.	We eat in town.
Os senhores comem em Nova York?	us‿siNHOris‿KOmẽ ẽ‿NÓva‿IÓRki?	Do you gentlemen eat in New York?

Of the verbs you have had, comer, compreender, and conhecer have regular endings for –er verbs. On the model above you can easily make the proper forms for other –er verbs if you know they are regular. Other verbs are irregular, as you can see in the following:

dizer (diZER), to say

eu digo	eu‿DIgu	I say
o senhor diz	u‿siNHOR‿DIS	you say ele, ela diz	Eli, Éla‿DIS	he, she says
os senhores dizem	us‿siNHOriz‿DIzẽ	you say eles, elas dizem	Elis, Élaz‿DIzẽ	they say nós dizemos	nóz‿diZEmus	we say ver (VER), to see

eu vejo	eu‿VEzhu	I see
o senhor vê	u‿siNHOR‿VE	you see ele, ela vê	Eli, Éla‿VE	he, she sees os senhores vêem	us‿siNHOriz‿VEẽ	you see eles, elas vêem	Elis, Élaz‿VEẽ	they see nós vemos	nóz‿VEmus	we see

Digitized by Google

querer (keRER), to want

eu quero	eu‿KÉru	I want
o senhor quer	u‿siNHOR‿KÉR	you want ele, ela quer	Ele, Éla‿KÉR	he, she wants os senhores querem	us‿siNHOris‿KÉrẽ	you want eles, elas querem	Elis, Élas‿KÉrẽ	they want nós queremos	nós‿keREmus	we want fazer (faZER), to do, make

eu faço	eu‿FAsu	I do
o senhor faz	u‿siNHOR‿FAS	you do ele, ela faz	Eli, Éla‿FAS	he, she does os senhores fazem	us‿siNHOris‿FAzẽ	you do eles, elas fazem	Elis, Élas‿FAzẽ	they do
nós fazemos	nós‿faZEmus	we do poder (poDER), to be able

eu posso	eu‿PÓsu	I can
o senhor pode	u‿siNHOR‿PÓdi	you can ele, ela pode	Eli, Éla‿PÓdi	he, she can os senhores podem	us‿siNHOris‿PÓdẽ	you can eles, elas podem	Elis, Élas‿PÓdẽ	they can nós podemos	nós‿poDEmus	we can

Some of the verbs which occur most frequently are irregular. In the units already studied you have met most of these forms of dizer, fazer, querer, and poder. Digo for "I say"; faço for "I do" and vejo for "I see" are new to you.

You will find that the plural of irregular verbs is frequently regular, and that the most unreliable form is the one for "I."

COMMENT 3

Observe the expressions of time in the following from the Basic Sentences:

Está mais fresco agora de noite.	esTA‿MAIS‿FRESku‿aGÓra di‿NOIti.	It is cooler now in the evening.
O sol dá nesta janela de manhã.	u‿SÓL DA‿NÉSta‿zhaNÉla di‿maNHÃ.	The sun strikes this window in the morning.

"In the evening," and "in the morning" are expressed by de noite and de manhã respectively. Likewise, "in the afternoon" would be expressed by de tarde, as for example:

De tarde faz calor.	di‿TARdi‿fas‿kaLOR.	In the afternoon it is warm.

COMMENT 4

Há duas camas.	A‿DUas‿KAmas.	There are two beds.
Há três luzes elétricas.	A‿TRES‿LUziz‿eLÉtrikas.	There are three electric lights.
Há quanto tempo estão aquí?	A‿KUÃtu‿TÊpu esTÃU‿aKI?	How long have you been here?
Estamos aquí há muito tempo.	esTAmuz‿aKI A‿MŨItu‿TÊpu.	We have been here for a long time.

In the very first unit you had há (pronounced A) meaning "there is" or "there are," as in the first two illustrations. Now you find it in an interesting expression of time: há, "there is" or "there are," plus some indication of time such as muito tempo, plus a verb in the present equals the English "I have been doing something for so much time."

3. Tell a friend about your troubles, and see if he can recommend another hotel. Decide to live in a boardinghouse, because it isn't so expensive as a hotel, and because you have a better chance to talk Portuguese with the landlady.
4. Have the friend take you to the recommended boardinghouse, and talk to the woman. Ask her to show you the room, and ask as many questions as you can about the room.
5. Ask about the persons who live in the boardinghouse, where they are from and what they do, so you'll know whether you will all be congenial.
6. Strike up an acquaintance with one of the lodgers, and ask him out for some refreshments so you can ask him about the house.

Hints on Pronunciation

1. How are your Nasal Vowels? Are you making every effort to pronounce the nasal vowels as you hear the Guide or records speak them? Be sure to keep sending the air into your nose at the same time you pronounce the vowel sound. Practice the nasal vowels in the following words and expressions:

2. The people in some parts of Brazil have a habit of "nasalizing" slightly any vowel sound that is followed by m, n, or nh in the next syllable. The degree to which this nasalizing is carried varies from one region of Brazil to another, so imitate your Guide closely. Practice these words, slightly nasalizing the vowels that come before m, n, or nh. For example, don't say si-NE-ma, with a pure NE, but make it almost NẼ: si-NẼ-ma.

COMMENT 1

"You" Among Friends

Como você está bonito!	KOmu‿voSE‿esTA‿boNItu!	How handsome you are!
Você vai a uma festa?	voSE‿VAI‿a‿uma‿FÉSta?	Are you going to a party?
Muito bem! Vou com você.	MŨItu‿BẼ! VO‿kõ‿voSE.	Fine! I am going with you.
Você não vai comigo!	voSE‿nãu‿VAI‿koMIgu!	You are not going with me.
Você vai com a pequena.	voSE‿VAI kõ‿a‿piKEna.	You are going with your girl friend.

You generally address people as o senhor and a senhora, according to the examples given until now. Remember that you may address a girl either as a senhorita or as a senhora. The first is a little more formal; the second more frequent. After you make friends with anyone sufficiently to drop the "mister" and "miss," you may change from o senhor and a senhorita to você, especially if your friend is about your own age or younger. But stick to o senhor and a senhora in speaking to your elders or superiors.

COMMENT 2

"She Combs her Hair"

Ela penteia o cabelo.	Éla‿pẽTEia‿u‿kaBElu.	She combs her hair.
Você vai com a pequena!	voSE‿VAI‿kõ‿a‿piKEna!	You are going with your girl friend!

Digitized by Google

Faça o favor de me cortar o cabelo.	FAsa‿u‿faVOR di‿mi‿korTAr‿u‿kaBElu.	Please cut my hair.
Vou mandar limpar o uniforme.	VO‿mãDAR‿lĩPAR u‿uniFÓRmi.	I am going to have my uniform cleaned.

In all the expressions given above, reference is made to the body, clothes, or other close possessions of someone involved in the conversation. In English we would say "She combs her hair," "You go with your girl friend." In Portuguese the possessive is usually left out whenever it is perfectly obvious whose hands, etc., are meant, and we say instead "She combs the hair," "You go with the girl friend." Now observe the following:

Faça o favor de me fazer a barba.	FAsa‿u‿faVOR di‿mi‿faZEr‿a‿BARba.	Please shave me. (Please do for me the beard.)
Faça o favor de me cortar o cabelo.	FAsa‿u‿faVOR di‿mi‿korTAr‿u‿kaBElu.	Please cut my hair. (Please cut for me the hair.)

Sometimes you leave out the possessive, but you express the person involved by the indirect object, corresponding to the English "for me," "for him," etc. Instead of saying "Please cut my hair," as in English, in Portuguese you actually say "Please cut for me the hair." At other times the expression is more general and indefinite, as you can observe in the following:

Vou cortar o cabelo.	VO‿korTAr‿u‿kaBElu.	I am going to cut my hair or I am going to get my hair cut.
Vou fazer a barba.	VO‿faZEr‿a‿BARba.	I am going to shave myself or I am going to get myself shaved.
Vou fazer um terno marrom.	VO‿faZEr‿ũ TÉRnu‿maRRÕ.	I am going to make a brown suit or I shall get a brown suit made.

Now observe the connotation of the additional verb in the following:

Vou mandar limpar o uniforme azul.	VO‿mãDAR‿lĩPAr‿u‿uniFÓRmi‿aZUL.	I am going to have the blue uniform cleaned. (I am going to order to clean.)

Digitized by Google

Vou mandar fazer um terno.	VO‿mãDAR‿faZEr‿ũ‿TÉRnu.	I am going to have a suit made.
Vou mandar fazer a barba.	VO‿mãDAR‿faZEr‿a‿BARba.	I am going to get shaved.
Mando lavar a roupa.	MÃdu‿laVAr‿a‿RROpa.	I have my clothes washed.

Whenever you wish to make it clear that someone else is going to do the work for you, use this "to order to do" construction.

COMMENT 3

Where You Can Get Some More Adjectives

Gosto da roupa bem engomada.	GÓStu‿da‿RROpa‿BẼ‿ẽgoMAda.	I like my clothes well starched (stiff).
Estou cansado; gostaria de descansar.	esTO‿kãSAdu; gostaRIa‿di‿deskãSAR.	I am tired; I would like to rest.

The past participles of most verbs of action can be used as adjectives in Portuguese as in English. For the past participle of –ar verbs, which are the most numerous in Portuguese, substitute for the –ar ending –ado, –ada, –ados, –adas, to agree with the nouns they modify, as in the sentences above. The past participle of regular –er verbs is obtained by substituting for the –er ending –ido, –ida, etc. You can notice its use in the following sentences:

A roupa branca está bem passada.	A‿RROpa‿BRÃka‿esTA‿BẼ‿paSAda.	The underwear is well ironed.
Meus sapatos estão consertados.	meus‿saPAtuz‿esTÃU‿kõserTAdus.	My shoes are fixed (mended).
As camisas estão bem lavadas.	as‿kaMIzaz‿esTÃU‿BẼ‿laVAdas.	The shirts are well laundered.
Esta cidade é muito conhecida.	ÉSta‿siDAdi‿é‿MŨItu‿konheSIda.	This city is very well known.

You learned cansado as an adjective, but it comes from the verb cansar, "to tire," as you can see from the illustrative sentence. This verb is generally accompanied by "myself, yourself," etc., like the verb chamar (shaMAR) in Unit 3. If you want to say "I get tired" you can say "I tire myself," eu me canso (eu‿mi‿KÃsu).

To correspond to the verb limpar we have the adjective limpo, with which you are already acquainted. The past participle limpado is not used as an adjective.

1. Two friends discuss their troubles in trying to look their best. One says his shoes need a shine, the other says it looks as if his clothes should be pressed too. The first retorts that both of them could take their suits to the cleaners. The second says he needs to have his linen washed and his white uniform washed and starched. They set out to find a cleaner.

2. The two friends meet a friend of one of them. A introduces C to B. C asks where they are going. A says they are looking for a washwoman and a cleaner. B asks if C knows where they can find them. C recommends two of them, and asks if the barber at their hotel is any good. A and B tell him what they think of the barber, and they separate, C looking for a barbershop, A and B looking for the cleaners.

3. A and B arrive at the laundry. One likes his clothes stiff, the other less starched. The laundress asks if they would like the clothes mended, and they say they would. They ask when they can get the laundry and how much it will cost. She gives the price of the various items. One asks if she could do a white uniform, and she agrees for a price. They leave their bundles and depart.
4. On the way back from the laundry the two friends run into C, who is returning from the barber. They hail him gaily, telling him how pretty he looks. B says he always shaves at home because the barbers talk too much. C says that he has no hot water where he lives and the mirrors and lights are bad. A thanks him for directing them to the washwoman, and they ask C to join them at dinner.
5. Act out C at the barbershop. Come in and ask for a shave and a haircut. Talk to the barber (or let him talk to you) about his family, how many children he has, where they live, what they do. Let him question you about your family, etc.

Hints on Spelling

In Unit 7 we discussed the way in which vowel sounds are represented in Portuguese conventional spelling. Here we shall take up the consonant sounds and the letters used to represent them.

1. Most of the consonant sounds are represented in conventional spelling by the same letters we have used. Among these sounds are: b, d, f, l, lh, m, n, nh, p, r, t, and v.

2. The sound rr is written rr in the middle of a word, but written r at the beginning of a word:

RROpa, "clothes," is spelled roupa.
FÉrru, "iron," is spelled ferro.
maRRÕ, "brown," is spelled marrom.
rrestauRÃti, "restaurant," is spelled restaurante.
rroBÉRtu, "Robert," is spelled Roberto.
RROStu, "face," is spelled rosto.

Digitized by Google

3. The sound k is represented by the letter c when it comes before a, o, or u, or before a consonant letter:

KAma, "bed," is spelled cama.
koMIda, "food," is spelled comida.
kusTAR, "to cost," is spelled custar.
KLAru, "light," "clear," is spelled claro.

Before e or i, however, the sound k is spelled qu:

keREmus, "we want," is spelled queremos.
KEzhu, "cheese," is spelled queijo.

The combination kua (kwa) is also written qu:

KUARtu, "room," is spelled quarto.
KUAtru, "four," is spelled quatro.

4. The sound of "hard" g is also represented in two ways, according to the same principle that we have seen for k: the letter g is used before a, o, u, or a consonant letter, and gu before e or i:

GRÃdi, "large," is spelled grande.
gaLInha, "chicken," is spelled galinha.
portuGES, "Portuguese," is spelled português.

5. The sound s is represented by the letter s (especially at the beginning or end of a word, or before a consonant sound), ss (between vowels), sometimes c before e or i and ç before a, o, and u, and also by z at the end of a word:

saLAda, "salad," is spelled salada.
VAmus, "let's go," is spelled vamos.
escriTÓriu, "office," is spelled escritório.
paSAR, "to pass," is spelled passar.
siNEma, "movies," is spelled cinema.
estaSÃU, "station," is spelled estação.
LUS, "light," is spelled luz.

6. The sound z is represented by the letter z in some cases; but also by s between vowels or at the end of words:

faZER, "to do," is spelled fazer.
KAza, "house," is spelled casa.
az‿BOaz‿MÃIS, "the good mothers," is spelled as boas mães.

7. The sound sh is usually represented by ch, but sometimes by x:

shaMAR, "to call," is spelled chamar.
PEshi, "fish," is spelled peixe.

8. The sound zh is represented by the letter j before a, o, and u, and by the letter g before e and i:

ZHÓRzhi, "George," is spelled Jorge.

Section B — Word Study and Review of Basic Sentences

1. Word Study

COMMENT 1

"One is Doing" Things

O senhor está estudando de noite. u‿siNHOR‿esTA‿estuDÃdu di‿NOIti. You are studying at night.

This construction in Portuguese is just like the corresponding one in English. The -ing ending in English has the corresponding forms -ando for -ar verbs and -endo for -er verbs, as you can see from the following illustrations:

Eles estão falando no telefone.	Eliz‿esTÃU‿faLÃdu nu‿teleFOni.	They are talking on the telephone.
Eu estou cortando a carne.	EU‿esTO‿korTÃdu‿a‿KARni.	I am cutting the meat.
Ele está comendo sanduíches.	Eli‿esTA‿koMẼdu‿sãDUIshis.	He is eating sandwiches.

Do not confuse this construction with the present of the verb ir, meaning "I am going," "he is going," etc., as in the following:

Vou à casa do senhor Silva.	VO‿A‿KAza‿du‿sinhor‿SILva.	I am going to Mr. Silva's house.
Vou almoçar peixe hoje.	VO‿almoSAR‿PEIshi‿Ozhi.	I'm going to have fish for lunch today.

COMMENT 2

The Word que

Notice how the word que is used in questions:

Que é isto?	KE‿é‿IStu?	What is this?
Doce de que?	DOsi‿di‿KE?	What kind of sweet?
Que estuda o senhor?	KE‿esTUda‿u‿siNHOR?	What do you study?
Que é que os senhores comem de manhã?	ke‿É‿que‿us‿siNHOris KOmẽ‿di maNHÃ?	What do you eat in the morning?

Digitized by Google

Que faz seu pai?	KE‿FAS‿seu‿PAI?	What does your father do?
Que é que seu pai faz?	ke‿É‿ke‿seu‿PAI‿FAS?	What does your father do?
Que é que temos hoje?	ke‿É‿ke‿TEmuz‿Ozhi?	What do we have today?

We found que in the very first unit, meaning "what?" You were also given sentences to learn with que é que (ke‿É‿ke) also meaning "what?" You may not have noticed it before, but the preceding sentences now call it to your attention that que é que is simply a longer form of que, which has the advantage of not obliging you to turn your sentences around, putting the noun or pronoun after the verb. It might literally be translated as "What is it that?" Brazilians prefer the longer form. The word que may be used with a noun as an interrogative adjective, as you see in the following:

Que cidade é esta?	KE‿siDAdi‿é‿ÉSta?	What city is this?
Que legumes temos hoje?	KE‿leGUmis‿TEmuz‿Ozhi?	What vegetables have we today?

Now observe the use of que in the following:

Tenho uma amiga que tem uma pensão.	TEnhu‿uma‿aMIga ke‿tẽ‿uma‿pẽSÃU.	I have a friend who has a boarding-house.

In this sentence we find que meaning "who," referring directly back to a noun mentioned just before. This is a relative pronoun, of which you will have more examples later on.

In the following sentences que is used in a still different capacity:

Penso que ela tem um quarto.	PẼsu ke‿éla‿tẽ‿ũ‿KUARtu.	I think that she has a room.
Vemos que o quarto é bom.	VEmus ke‿u‿KUARtu‿é‿BÕ.	We see that it is a good room.

In each of these sentences we have two verbs; each part of a sentence containing a verb is a clause. We find KE, meaning "that," connecting two of these clauses such as "I think" and "she has." Note that in English we frequently omit the word "that," saying "I think she has a room" instead of "I think that she has a room." The word que for "that" cannot be omitted in Portuguese. Observe the same word que in exclamations:

Digitized by Google

Que calor!	KE‿kaLOR!	What heat! (How warm it is!)
Que noite agradável!	KE‿NOIti‿agraDAvél!	What a pleasant night!

COMMENT 3

You have had other types of question forms which you can observe in the following illustrations:

Onde está Maria?	Õdi‿esTA‿maRIa?	Where is Mary?
Onde é que Maria está?	Õdi‿é‿ke‿maRIa‿esTA?
Quando é a festa?	KUÃdu‿é‿a‿FÉSta?	When is the party?
Que é isto?	ke‿é‿IStu?	What is this?
Quanto é o cafézinho?	KUÃtu‿é‿u‿kaféZInhu?	How much is the cup of coffee?
Que é que temos hoje?	ke‿É‿ke‿TEmuz‿Ozhi?	What do we have today?
Onde há um bom restaurante?	Õdi‿A ũ‿BÕ‿rrestauRÃti?	Where is there a good restaurant?

When the Portuguese forms of "to be" (ser, estar, and há, "there is") are used in a question, the question is usually in the same order as in English, that is, the subject comes after the verb, a position we call inverted. But when an extra é que is introduced after the question word, the order remains intact, as you can see in Onde é que Maria está? The word quem, meaning "who" or "whom," generally does not change the order in a question.

Quem vai ao cinema?	KẼ‿vai‿au‿siNEma?	Who's going to the movies?
Quem quer bife com batatas?	KẼ‿KÉR‿BIfi kõ‿baTAtas?	Who wants steak and potatoes?
Com quem o senhor vai à festa?	kõ‿KẼ u‿siNHOR‿vai‿a FÉSta?	With whom are you going to the party?

Observe how the question is asked in the following:

Você vai a uma festa?	voSE‿VAI‿a‿uma‿FÉSta?	Are you going to a party?
A roupa está pronta?	a‿RROpa‿esTA‿PRÕta?	Are the clothes ready?

Digitized by Google

In questions that do not start with a special interrogative word, Brazilians merely use the regular sentence order and a questioning tone of voice. This is much more common than the inverted form.

Suggested Topics

1. Discuss with one of your friends the food at the boardinghouse. Compare it with what you had at home.
2. Invite someone to a restaurant. You go in and order a meal. You find that the soup is cold; your friend thinks the vegetables need salt, but the waiter has forgotten it. Your knife will not cut the steak, and his is not clean, etc.
3. Make arrangements with your landlady for the morning coffee. She will ask you if you want your coffee in your room. Agree upon the time. If you're going to eat a large breakfast, it would be a good idea to have it in the dining room.
4. Complain about the maid's service (a empregada). She doesn't clean the room properly. She comes to make the bed when you are in the room. The landlady explains that she has a lot of work to do and does the room when she can. Ask her to tell the washwoman, when she comes to get her clothes, that you have a package of clothes ready to take and wash. You speak about the washwoman; she washes clothes well.
5. Talk over with someone at your boardinghouse your experiences eating in town. You had very good meals at a restaurant near the hotel. Tell what you eat there. He tells of the good food the landlady prepares. You would like to eat your lunch and dinner at the boardinghouse, but the place where you work is not near.
6. Discuss the people in the boardinghouse with someone. You think one always needs a shave; another talks too much; one is always talking about his uncle who is a doctor. Comment on the fact that the man who is engaged to the landlady's daughter gets the best of everything.

Hints on Pronunciation

In typical Brazilian speech there is a fairly smooth flow with few syllables especially stressed. Questions are asked with the voice on a flatter level than in English. Although every word of more than one syllable has a stressed syllable, in speaking fluently many of these stresses are smoothed out. For example, the following question, read with a stress on each stressed syllable, would sound bumpy: u‿siNHOR‿SILva‿NÃU‿KÉR‿koMER? A Brazilian would say: u‿sinhor‿silva‿nãu‿kér‿koMER? And his voice would rise and stress the last syllable, while the rest of the sentence would be smooth and almost flat.

Pronounce the following sentences, trying to get them as smooth and fluent as possible.

COMMENT 1

We Speak of Past Events

Nunca visitei o Rio.	NŨka_viziTEI_u_RRIu.	I never visited Rio.
O senhor visitou o Rio.	u_siNHOR viziTO_u_RRIu.	You visited Rio.

Ela gostou da vista tropical.	Éla_gosTO_da_VISta_tropiKAL.	She liked the tropical view.

Eu passei oito dias.	EU_paSEI_OItu_DIas.	I spent eight days.

These are the forms of the Preterite of –ar verbs, used when you want to bring up something that happened at some particular time in the past. When you think back to what you did yesterday, or last week, or a year ago, and wish to tell those experiences, you must use these endings for all the –ar verbs you already know and those

[1] In the case of dia inteiro and meia hora the a in the middle may appear very quickly or may disappear entirely. Notice carefully what your Guide does.

Digitized by Google

you may learn later. (Remember, however, that dar, "to give," and estar, "to be," are irregular.)

To complete the picture, notice the forms of the verb passar, on which you can model others:

eu passei	EU‿paSEI	I spent or passed ele passou	Eli‿paSO	he spent or passed
nós passámos	NÓS‿paSAmus	we spent or passed
eles passaram	Elis‿paSArãu	they spent or passed

Observe the forms of the second-conjugation verbs italicized in the following:

Comí doces americanos.	koMI‿DOsiz‿ameriKAnus.	I ate American sweets.
Comeu no Restaurante Americano?	koMEU‿nu‿rrestauRÃti‿ ameriKAnu?	Did you eat in the American Restaurant?

These are the forms you have met of the Preterite of regular –er verbs. Unfortunately, most of the –er verbs you have met so far are irregular, such as ser, ter, dizer, ver, poder, querer. Although the Preterites of irregular verbs frequently have the same endings as regular –er verbs, the roots of the verbs often change, and so these verbs will have to be learned one at a time. In this unit we give you the Preterite of comer, "to eat."

Eu comí.	EU‿koMI.	I ate.
Nair comeu.	naIR‿koMEU.	Nair ate.
Comemos muito.	koMEmus‿MÕItu.	We ate a great deal.
Nair e João comeram doces.	naIR‿i‿ZHUÃŨ‿koMErãu‿DOsis.	Nair and John ate sweets.

The italicized words in the following are forms of the verb ir, "to go":

Fui de automóvel.	FUI‿di‿autoMÓvél.	I went by automobile.
Foi ao Corcovado?	FOI‿au‿korkoVAdu?	Did you go to the Corcovado?
Minha tia e eu fomos a uma igreja.	MInha‿TIa i‿EU FOmuz‿a‿Uma‿ iGREzha.	My aunt and I went to a church.
Elas foram a uma igreja.	Élas‿FOrãu a‿Uma‿iGREzha.	They went to a church.

Here are some of the forms of the Preterite of ver, "to see," which you have had:

Vi a cidade e o porto.	VI a siDAdi i u PORtu.	I saw the city and the harbor.
Viu as igrejas?	VIU az iGREzhas?	Did you see the churches?
Dalí vi toda a cidade.	daLI VI TOda a siDAdi.	From there I saw all the city.

In order to complete the picture, observe the forms which you have not met:

Vimos uma bonita vista.	VImuz uma boNIta VISta.	We saw a lovely scene.
Nair e João viram o Pão de Açúcar.	naIR i ZHUÃU VIrãu u PÃU di aSUkar.	Nair and John saw the Sugar Loaf.

Some More Plurals

Há três luzes elétricas.	A TRES LUziz eLÉtrikas.	There are three electric lights.
Os senhores almoçam na cidade?	us siNHOris alMÓsãu na siDAdi?	You folks lunch in town?
Visitei os lugares importantes.	viziTEI uz luGAriz iporTÃtis.	I visited the important places.

Nouns and adjectives ending in –r, –s, or –z add –es (pronounced –is) for the plural. You can observe it in expressions such as the following:

Há muitos portugueses no Brasil.	A MÚItus portuGEzis nu braZIL.	There are many Portuguese (people) in Brazil.
Recife e Baía são maiores do que Natal.	rreSIfi i baIa sãu maiÓriz du ke naTAL.	Recife and Bahia are larger than Natal.
As colheres de sopa.	as kuLHÉris di SOpa.	Soup spoons.

Now observe some more plurals of nouns and adjectives:

Fui de automóvel.	FUI di autoMÓvél.	I went by automobile.
Há muitos automóveis.	A MÚItuz autoMÓveiz.	There are many automobiles.

Fui a um hotel; fui a muitos hotéis.	FUI‿a‿Ũ‿oTÉL; FUI‿a MÕItuz‿oTÉIS.	I went to one hotel; I went to many hotels.
Trabalho numa casa comercial.	traBAlhu NUma‿KAza‿komerSIAL.	I work in a business house.
As casas comerciais têm muitos empregados.	as‿KAzaz‿komerSIAIS TÊ‿MÕItuz‿ẽpreGAdus.	Business houses have many employees.
Os mares são azues.	uz‿MAris‿sãu‿aZUIS.	The seas are blue.

Nouns and adjectives ending in –l substitute –es for the -l to make the plural, in most cases. (However, nouns and adjectives ending in unstressed –il make their plural in –eis; frágil [fragile] has the plural frágeis; and nouns and adjectives ending in stressed –il make their plural in –is: civil [pronounced siVIL], "civilian," has the plural civis.)

Some words do not change for the plural:

Gostei de passear de ônibus.	gosTEI‿di‿paSIAR di‿Onibus.	I liked to ride in a bus.
Há muitos ônibus na rua.	A‿MÕItuz‿Onibus na‿RRUa.	There are many buses on the streets.

Ônibus remains the same for the singular and plural.

COMMENT 3

Ficar, as Useful as "to get" in English

Pedro quer ficar no Brasil.	PEdru‿KÉR‿fiKAR nu‿braZIL.	Peter wants to remain in Brazil.
Gostaria de ficar aquí.	gostaRIa‿di‿fiKAR‿aKI.	I would like to stay here.
Fico com o quarto.	FIku‿kõ‿u‿KUARtu.	I'll take the room.
Fiquei contente de ver o Rio.	fiKEI‿kõTẼti di‿VER‿u‿RRIu.	I was happy to see Rio.
Fiquei satisfeito de poder conhecer o Rio.	fiKEI‿satisFEItu di‿poDER‿konheSÉR‿u‿RRIu.	I was very pleased to be able to know Rio.
O café ficou frio.	u‿kaFÉ‿fiKO‿FRIu.	The coffee got cold.

Ficar primarily means "to stay" in a place, ficar com, literally, "to stay with," means "to keep," "take," "buy" something being considered for that purpose. Ficar may be used with any number of adjectives to mean "to become," "get." You can observe many more uses of ficar in the lessons to come.

2. Two friends just back from furlough talk together about the cities they visited during their leave. Tell what was seen and done, how long you stayed, where, etc. Automobile trips, the train or bus, the restaurants, hotels or houses, the food, the company should all be mentioned.
3. Ask someone to join you at a table at a sidewalk café. You talk together about the people who go by — what you guess their work to be, the family groups that hang together and what their specific relationship to each other is.
4. One person is about to travel to Rio or to New York or some other place you are prepared to talk about. Ask someone else to tell you what sights there are to see, how you can get around by bus or streetcar. Get directions for theaters, hotels, churches of interest, business houses, and the like.

Qualifying adjectives are regularly placed after the noun in Portuguese. A few very common, everyday adjectives such as bonito, grande, bom are often put before the noun, especially if there are other adjectives modifying the same noun. Placing an adjective like importante before the noun emphasizes it a little more. Numerical, possessive, and demonstrative adjectives come before the noun. Less common qualifying adjectives, colors, and nationalities go after the noun.

Observe the effect which the position of some adjectives has on the meaning:

É um moço bom.	é ũ MOsu BÕ.	He is a good young man.
É um bom moço.	é ũ BÕ MOsu.	He is a likeable boy.
É uma casa grande.	é uma KAza GRÃdi.	It is a large house.
É uma grande casa comercial.	é uma GRÃdi KAza komerSIAL.	It is a great (important) business house.
É uma cousa grande.	é uma KOza GRÃdi.	It is a large thing.
Não é grande cousa.	nãu é GRÃdi KOza.	It's nothing wonderful.

The position of a very few adjectives, such as bom and grande, makes a difference in their meaning. When the adjective is placed after the noun it modifies, it has its real or primary meaning (good, large). When placed before, it takes on a figurative rather than a concrete meaning: bom doesn't mean "good," "of good moral character," but "nice," "agreeable"; grande doesn't mean "large," "of great size," but "great," "important."

COMMENT 2

Possessives

Meu marido gosta dos Americanos.	meu maRIdu GÓSta duz ameriKAnus.	My husband likes Americans.
Pode falar com seus amigos.	POdi faLAR kõ seuz aMIgus.	You can talk with your friends.
Um de seus amigos.	Ũ di seuz aMIgus.	One of your friends.
Minha lavadeira pode lavar sua roupa.	MInha lavaDEIra POdi laVAR SUa RROpa.	My washwoman can wash your clothes.
Meu pai me mandou passear na casa de minha tia.	meu PAI mi mãDO paSIAR na KAza di MInha TIa.	My father sent me for a pleasure trip to my aunt's house.

Digitized by Google

The words meu, minha, etc., are called possessives. They show the person to whom a certain object or person belongs. These possessives must agree with the noun they modify or represent, not with the person whose ownership is indicated. To give you a complete picture of these possessives, we list here all of the forms of each one:

my	meu, minha, meus, minhas
your, his, her, their	seu, sua, seus, suas
our	nosso, nossa, nossos, nossas

These possessives may accompany a noun (adjectives) or stand in its place (pronouns). In other words, there is no difference between the word for "my" and "mine" in Portuguese. Sometimes an expression can be substituted for the possessive, as you can see in the following sentences:

O senhor quer seu café?	u‿siNHOR‿KÉR‿seu‿kaFÉ?	Do you want your coffee?
O café do senhor está pronto.	u‿kaFÉ‿du‿siNHOR esTA‿PRÕtu.	Your coffee is ready.
Este lenço é seu (é do senhor)?	ESti‿LÊsu‿é‿SEU (é‿du‿siNHOR)?	Is this handkerchief yours?
Este automóvel é da senhora?	ESti‿autoMÓvél‿é‿da‿siNHÓra?	Is this automobile yours?
Esta gravata é sua?	ÉSta‿graVAta‿é‿SUa?	Is this tie yours?
Os médicos e seus amigos ficam aquí.	uz‿MÉdikuz‿i‿seuz‿aMIgus FIkãu‿aKI.	The doctors and their friends stay here.
Os senhores e seus amigos podem ficar aquí.	us‿siNHOris i‿seuz‿aMIgus PÓdẽ‿fiKAR‿aKI.	You and your friends can stay here.

As may be seen in the examples above, seu, sua, seus, suas agree with the noun they modify or stand in place of, not with the gender of the person involved. In addition, note that they may mean "your," "his," "her," or "their." Ordinarily, one knows by the trend of the conversation exactly whom the possessive refers to. As a usual thing, seu, sua, etc., are taken to mean "your," "yours."

Note that do senhor, "of you," is frequently used instead of seu, sua. It is a shade politer than seu, sua; that is, o café do senhor is a little more genteel than seu café. Occasionally it is used to make it absolutely clear just who is meant. The expression de você with the intimate "you" is sometimes used, if it is necessary to make it clear who is meant, but is not so common.

Observe the Portuguese and the English equivalents in the following:

Digitized by Google

Pedro faz a barba.	PEdru‿FAZ‿a‿BARba.	Peter shaves (himself).
Lavo o rosto e as mãos.	LAvu‿u‿RROStu i‿az‿MÃUS.	I wash (my) face and hands.
Mandámos consertar os sapatos.	mãDÁmus‿kõserTAR‿us‿saPAtus.	We had (our) shoes fixed.

In Unit 8 you were told that whenever the "ownership" is perfectly obvious, as in the sentences above, the possessive is usually omitted in Portuguese.

Section E — Conversation

1. Covering the Portuguese of Basic Sentences

Individual Study: With the Portuguese covered, practice until you can speak the Portuguese for each English sentence without hesitation.

Digitized by Google

2. Vocabulary Check-up

Give the Portuguese for all the English sentences in the Basic Sentences as the Leader calls for it.

3. Conversation

Suggested Topics

1. Go on a shopping trip, letting others of the group be the various clerks. Ask for shoes, socks, and handkerchiefs. Criticize the quality and the prices. One clerk will try to use high-pressure salesmanship and sell you something you don't want. Be firm but polite.
2. Two friends discuss the material of various articles of clothing of their own or of people they see. Discuss colors too, and branch out to people you both know or your own former tastes.
3. Go to a shop to buy something for your girl. Get suggestions from the various clerks. Criticize the articles. Finally buy something and present it to the girl.
4. Hold a conversation with a girl you meet on a train. Talk about the weather, about your destination, about other trips you have been on. Tell of other people you have run into on your travels. After a few sentences, casually change from o senhor and a senhorita to você. End by making a date for dinner tonight. Then notice this is your station and say "Até logo."
5. Hold a similar conversation with an older man. Turn to a discussion of where you come from, your families, their work, etc. As you grow more friendly let the older man change to você, but the younger will of course keep to o senhor.
6. Test out your knowledge of numbers by discussing prices of things. Pay for the purchases with large bills and have the change counted back to you just as we do it here (your purchase was seventy-five cents, and five is eighty, ninety, a dollar). Work out corresponding prices in dólares and cruzeiros, counting a cruzeiro as five cents (in round numbers). The cruzeiro has 100 centavos, but there are coins only for 10, 20, 30, 40, and 50 centavos.

Continue conversation. Additional check-up on the material of the Basic Sentences by the Leader if it seems necessary.

REVIEW

Section A — What Do You Know in Portuguese?

This section is a true-false quiz exactly like the one in Unit 6. Prepare paper with numbers from 1 to 80 and have the Guide read off the items twice each or listen to the records. The Leader will read out the correct answers for each question as in Unit 6; after the papers are marked, the Leader will figure out the average for the group. Then spend the rest of the period going through the items on which anyone had difficulty. A score of less than 80% or less than the class average (whichever is higher) shows that you need more review of the work in Units 1–11.
